

THIRD PARTY ORGANIZED AT LANSING

RED LEADERS
DEMAND NEW
CZECH REGIMEPRESIDENT BENES
SITS TIGHT IN CABINET SPLIT

By A. I. GOLDBERG
Prague, Czechoslovakia, Feb. 21 (AP)—Communist Premier Klement Gottwald, speaking to thousands at a public rally, demanded a new government from top to bottom today in this bitter state between Russia and the west.

His followers, standing in the old town square, cheered him. They cried, "we are prepared," and "long live the government of Premier Gottwald without the reactionaries."

Gottwald insisted last night that President Eduard Benes, an Independent, let him name a new cabinet without the ministers of three parties that turned in their resignations from the coalition government yesterday.

Resignations Held Up
President Benes sat tight in the presidential palace. He had not accepted the resignations. Technically his broad national-front government still existed.

His office said he had seen no one this morning nor had he taken any action toward dissolving the constituent national assembly and calling an election of a new parliament.

The cabinet holds power from a constituent national assembly elected in May, 1946, when the Communists polled the biggest vote. The assembly was set up to serve until a new constitution could be put into effect.

But the belief grew last night that the anti-Communist "left" might bring an emergency election of a new assembly even before this constitution could become effective. Some predictions were that the constituent assembly would be dissolved today and an election called within six weeks.

Ministers Walk Out
The committee's statement, read over the Czech radio network, said the three parties that quit had become "the opposition."

Paroled Shotgun Robber at Flint Is Back in Prison

Detroit, Feb. 21 (AP)—James Tamer, leaders of a shotgun gang which robbed a Flint bank of $55,000 in 1934, was sent back to Southern Michigan prison today after police picked him up last night in a routine checkup.

Tamer and three other bandits robbed the Citizens Commercial and Savings bank in Flint. He was arrested five years later when his car was involved in an accident near Miami, Florida.

He was given a 15-year jail sentence in 1939, but was paroled Feb. 26, 1944.

Police nabbed Tamer Friday night in a checkup on a bar in downtown Detroit.

Steel Price Boost To Be Investigated

Washington, Feb. 21 (AP)—Ton leaders of the steel industry will be called before a joint congressional economic committee next Thursday to explain a general $5 a ton boost in steel prices.

Powerful Blizzard
Buries Soo; Warmer
Weather Promised

(By The Associated Press)
A powerful blizzard in the Sault Ste. Marie area and sub-zero temperatures in other parts of the state had Michigan deep in winter again today. (Sat)

However, the weatherman promised it would be slightly warmer over the weekend.

Pellston with a low of 16 below zero was the coldest spot in the state Friday night. The Detroit weather bureau said others reporting sub-zero readings were Cadillac -12, Escanaba -5, Sault Ste. Marie -7 and Gladwin -3. Marquette had a zero reading.

The Sault Ste. Marie area was digging its way out of what was termed the worst blizzard of the winter in that section. A 50-mile-an-hour wind broke loose several acres of ice fields just below the Soo Locks. The ferry Agomig was trapped in mid-stream and the John W. Curran was torn loose from its moorings at the Canadian ferry dock and beached.

The Coast Guard ice-breaking cutter Mesquite smashed its way through the ice to free the Agomig and got it back to shore. But service between the American and Canadian cities was suspended.

Soo area residents were digging through heavy drifting snows left by Thursday night storm.

But they got consolation from the weather bureau prediction that the weather would warm up slightly over the weekend, with the temperature due to hit 32 in some areas tomorrow.

Light snow flurries or rain were forecast for scattered sections of the state Sunday night or Monday.

AUSTRIAN PEACE TREATY STUDIED

Russian Claims Must Be Harmonized With Ability To Pay

London, Feb. 21 (AP)—Four-power foreign ministers' deputies doing spadework on an Austrian peace treaty faced the problem today of harmonizing Soviet claims and Austria's ability to pay.

Their latest treaty conference opened yesterday with general discussion of these claims, which are for money, oil and shipping.

Reports from the private meeting in the United States, Britain and France insisted Austria must not be billed for more than she could supply. They said Russia expressed hope for a settlement.

Conference sources said the deputies would talk today about Russia's demands for Danube shipping and probably also would take up a Soviet claim for payment by Austria of $200,000,000 in two years.

The Potsdam agreement of 1945 says Russia is entitled to reparations from Germany in the form of German assets both in her own occupation zone of Germany and in Austria, Bulgaria, Finland, Hungary and Rumania.

The Soviet Union bases her claims against Austria on this provision. The $200,000,000 payment would be for one-time German property that Austria is allowed to keep.

Midland Hospital Baby Ward Closed After Three Deaths

Midland, Mich., Feb. 21 (AP)—The deaths of three babies and the illness of two others led the Midland hospital to close its maternity ward today.

Superintendent Bernard E. Lorimer said the action was taken as a precautionary measure while three medical experts are investigating.

Brought here at the hospital's request, the state experts are expected to report their findings early next week.

City Girl Bakes Best Cherry Pie

Chicago, Feb. 21 (AP)—City-dwelling Valeria Johnston, 17, of Chicago outdid a lot of her country sisters to win the national pie baking contest Friday night.

The high school senior won $200 and a trip to Washington where she will give one of her pies to Secretary of Agriculture Anderson.

In winning, Miss Johnston bested state champions from 11 states — including Michigan's Marilyn Mills, of Wheeler.

SHOE CLEANER FATAL

Detroit (AP)—Danny Rush, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Rush of suburban Hamtramck, died Friday in St. Francis hospital after drinking shoe cleaner.

President Gives Hope
Of Self-Government
To The Puerto Ricans

BY ERNEST B. VACCARO

San Juan, Puerto Rico, Feb. 21 (AP)—President Truman told the people of Puerto Rico today that the appointment of an island-born governor was just a step toward an "increasing measure of self-government."

He greeted Gov. Jesus T. Pinero, his own appointee, and others gathered at San Juan's Island Grande airport in this fashion: "Freedom is a word which is found in every language. Equality means more than mere political emancipation."

"I repeat it to the Congress severally and I repeat it here—have the Puerto Rican people share the right to determine their own relationship to the United States."

The President's speech was delivered to a committee headed by Governor Pinero, gathered to welcome the fourth United States presidential visitor since it became an American possession in 1898.

He described the relationship between the United States and Puerto Rico as an example of "the democratic way of cooperation between friendly people."

"It represents," he said, "what the American people are trying to encourage in the world at large."

A full schedule was arranged for President Truman, from the moment of his arrival here in the "Sacred Cow" from Key West, Fla.

Tonight the presidential yacht Williamsburg is due to carry him to St. Thomas, in the Virgin Islands tomorrow for an official visit.

HUNDREDS DEAD IN TURK FLOODS

Towns Disappear Under High Waters Along 60-Mile Valley

Istanbul, Turkey, Feb. 21 (AP)—Flood waters inundating south central Turkey were reported today to have drowned hundreds of persons.

Evewitnesses said numerous bodies were seen floating with the debris.

Government sources at Ankara said crippled communications prevented an accurate casualty count. They insisted loss of life was low.

In Tarsus survivors told newsman 400 persons in the hamlet of Orozerli had vanished.

The newspaper Son Posta said nearly 500 were lost in three other villages near Tarsus.

A 60-mile valley extending from the Mediterranean to Kozan has been inundated by the flood. There were indications, however, that the waters would begin to recede soon.

Houghton Resident Held for Daylight Holdup At Duluth

Duluth, Minn., Feb. 21 (AP)—Thomas Gabriel McGuire, 40, of Houghton, Mich., was held today by federal authorities pending sentence on a bank robbery charge.

Appearing yesterday before Federal Judge Dennis F. Donovan, he pleaded guilty to a charge of taking $2,573 from the City National Bank of Duluth in a daylight robbery Jan. 3.

SOUTH FIGHTS

ADVISED TO HOLD THEIR FIRE

BY JACK BELL

Washington, Feb. 21 (AP)—Senator Byrd of Virginia gave the Democratic party's Dixie rebels this advice today:

Hold your fire—but keep your powder dry.

Byrd told a reporter he wants the South to be sure where it is going before it cuts long-standing political ties in the argument over President Truman's Civil Rights proposals.

"We must make a calm, deliberate decision, on the basis of events as they happen and then be prepared to go through with it to the end," he said.

Byrd told a party gathering at Richmond, Va., Friday night that the South won't stand for laws setting up a fair employment commission, making lynching a federal offense and banning poll taxes and race separation.

Conference Monday
But he added that it would be time enough to decide what to do if Southerners should lose their fight against enactment of such legislation by Congress.

Several House members from 11 Southern states have adopted a resolution condemning the president's program. They will confer with five Southern governors here Monday.

The five are governors Laney of Arkansas, Cherry of North Carolina, Thurmond of South Carolina, Jester of Texas and Tuck of Virginia. They will meet later Monday with Senator McGrath of Rhode Island, Democratic National Chairman.

The Southern governors conference on Feb. 8 gave the National Democratic headquarters 40 days to toss out the Civil Rights program.

McGrath has promised to relay their complaints to President Truman.

Southern House members hoped to have the resolution signed by 75 of their number and ready by that time to be sent to the president.

They got about 50 signers yesterday at a meeting called by Reps. Clark of North Carolina, Smith of Virginia, Cox of Georgia, Richards of South Carolina, Harris of Arkansas, Gossett of Texas, Hobbs of Alabama and Sikes of Florida. Rep. Colmer of Mississippi was named chairman of the group. Tennessee and Louisiana

FALSE ARRESTS WORTH $20,000

Chicago Policemen Pay Damages In Degnan Murder Case

Chicago, Feb. 21 (AP)—Two damage suits of $125,000 against 17 policemen charging false arrest and brutality in connection with the investigation of the Suzanne Degnan murder two years ago, have been settled for $20,000 by Hector Verburgh, 65, a janitor, and his wife.

The defendants included police commissioner John C. Prendergast, chief of detectives Walter Storms and Capt. Raymond Crane, chief of uniformed police.

Verburgh had sued for $100,000 and his wife, Mary, for $25,000. He was paid $15,000 and his wife $5,000 by the policemen. Marvin J. Peters, assistant corporation counsel, said that the city was not liable and was not contributing to the amount paid by the policemen. Their attorney said the officers were paying the damages, prorating shares among themselves.

Verburgh had charged he was treated brutally by policemen while being questioned about the abduction and dismemberment of the six-year old Degnan girl who had been kidnapped from her home. Her body was dismembered in a basement of an apartment building at which Verburgh was janitor.

The crime later was confessed by William G. Heirens, a University of Chicago student, who now is serving a series of life sentences for the Degnan slaying and two others.

Campaign Mapped Out by Michigan Democratic Party

Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb. 21 (AP)—More than 100 Democratic party leaders from 20 Michigan counties met here last night to lay the ground work for the party's 1948 campaign.

Topping a program for statewide organization was a plan for a new Michigan Democrat club that would subordinate county and local associations.

A resolution passed at the meeting stated that "accepted leaders of all Democratic organizations will be invited to cooperate."

But if they do not, leaders said, the new program will proceed without them.

Ex-Convict Gassed For Sex Killing of California Girl, 15

San Quentin, Calif., Feb. 21 (AP)—Thomas H. McMonigle, 37, who was the warden a note denying he killed a bobby soxer, then paid with his life for the crime.

White faced and glassy eyed, the 37 year old ex-convict had to be helped yesterday to the penitentiary's gas chamber, to which the state of California condemned him for the sex killing of Thora Chamberlain, 15.

McMonigle had served nine years in Illinois for raping an elderly woman.

Bomb Injures 50 Persons In Cairo

Cairo, Egypt, Feb. 21 (AP)—Fifty persons were injured, six seriously, last night when a bomb exploded at a branch of the Moslem Brotherhood Association. Police said they did not know whether the bomb had been thrown or planted.

The noise was heard for five miles. The injuries were caused by flying glass splinters from shattered windows. Some of those hurt were in a passing bus.

The Moslem Brotherhood Association has recruited Arab volunteers for Palestine fighting against Jews.

Extension of Rent Controls Approved

Washington, Feb. 21 (AP)—A 30-day extension of rent controls was agreed on today by Senate and House Republican leaders. The present controls are due to expire Feb. 29.

CROWS COME BACK

Housewife Blames
Robbery At Beulah
On Husband's Dogs

Beulah, Mich., Feb. 21 (AP)—Mrs. Ella Jane McGuire, 33, Pittsburgh housewife who dreamed of escaping her husband's dog-filled house and setting up an interior decorating business, was held today in a $5,000 theft from a relative's home here.

Arrested yesterday while lugging two heavy suitcases loaded with the cash and 10 bottles of whisky, Mrs. McGuire was quoted by Sheriff Ray Bryan as saying she traveled 600 miles to burglarize the summer home of W. F. Crawford, her husband's uncle, at nearby Platte Lake.

At Pittsburgh, J. M. McGuire described his wife as the victim of a "Jekyll and Hyde" complex which he said "liquor uncovers."

The blond, plump woman was charged with breaking into the cottage, and her bond was set at $10,000, McGuire implied, however, that his uncle would not press charges.

"I know he wouldn't hurt a member of his family if he could help it," he said after a telephone conversation with his uncle, now at his winter home at Daytona Beach, Fla.

"There was nothing lost, and even if there was the amount of money wouldn't bother Crawford since it would be replaced."

Securities Overlooked
Crawford told authorities Mrs. McGuire had "overlooked quite a bit" in ransacking the house, and Bryan later reported some $35,000 in securities—some negotiable—had been left undisturbed in tin cans in the basement.

The sheriff said Mrs. McGuire told him she tired of having 45 dogs eat off tables and sleep in beds in her Pennsylvania home. She said she took the money to set up her business, Bryan added.

McGuire explained he kept dogs in his cellar while taking them to his three acres of kennels on a suburban farm, but insisted there never were more than 10 in the house at one time.

He said he could not understand his wife's alleged theft of $5,000. "She has more money than that in her bank accounts," reported the well-to-do limestone jobber. "She certainly doesn't need the money."

Companion Saved After Drifting Nine Days On Life Raft

Brownsville, Tex., Feb. 21 (AP)—Esteban De Leon, a Mexican flier who survived a crash landing into the Gulf of Mexico, watched his companion fall prey to sharks and drifted nine days on a raft, will land here today.

The banana boat Roatan, which pick De Leon up about 47 miles off the coast from Frontera, Mex., Thursday afternoon, was due to arrive around 11 a. m.

There were two slightly different versions of ship-to-shore messages from De Leon as to how his companion, Neil Womack of Brownsville, was lost.

Thomas De Leon, his brother, quoted Esteban as saying by radio that Womack went out of his head and fell off the raft.

Tefolo Crixwell, Jr., manager of the International airport at Brownsville, said he heard Esteban tell his family by radio that Womack finally jumped off the raft.

A message from the Roatan received here yesterday said the Matamoros, Mex., flier was doing fine and would recover from his ordeal.

Heavy Snowfall Blankets Britain And West Europe

London, Feb. 21 (AP)—Snow fell thickly in Britain and western Europe today. Weather forecasters said the late winter cold wave would continue at least until the middle of next week.

Temperatures in Britain were slightly higher than yesterday's winter minimums, rising to the upper twenties. Berlin reported a minimum of six degrees Fahrenheit.

In Britain, unused to heavy snow, drifts piled high and stalled traffic. However, there appeared to be no immediate danger of a general breakdown such as that resulting from last February's near-record freeze-up.

New Boat Tackles Ice 25 Feet Deep

Washington, Feb. 21 (AP)—The Coast Guard said today it has a new 290-foot ice-breaker that plowed through fields of solid ice, 38 inches deep, and windows (piles of broken ice) 25 feet deep in tests on the Great Lakes. It has propellers at both ends.

Ashida polled 216 votes to 130 for former Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida, head of the ultra-Conservative Liberal Party, in the House of Representatives. A majority of 211 was required for election.

OLD PITTSBURGH BUILDING BURNS

Golden Triangle Blaze Ties Up Traffic; Loss $250,000

Pittsburgh, Feb. 21 (AP)—Two spectacular fires destroyed a golden triangle office building and a large grocery warehouse today. Damage was estimated at nearly $600,000 and two persons were missing.

Burned were the 60-year-old, five-story Jackson building at Sixth street and Penn avenue and an A. P. Warehouse at Lynn Way and Dallas avenue, in the Homewood section.

The Jackson building collapsed about four hours after the blaze broke out late last night. Two adjacent buildings were damaged as blazing debris showered over them. Several firemen were overcome by smoke and one was struck by a brick and injured.

Police sought a missing fireman and a woman cashier of the Sun Drug company both reported to have disappeared after the start of the fire.

Crowds collected on nearby street in sub freezing weather. Street car and auto traffic in the area was brought to a virtual standstill. Trolleys on nearby Penn avenue were lined up, one behind another, for six blocks.

Dense clouds of smoke blanketed most of downtown Pittsburgh and handicapped efforts of fire fighters.

Firemen said the flames apparently started in the basement of the corner Sun drug store. Loss at the Jackson building, located at Sixth and Penn avenue unofficially was estimated at $250,000.

This brought the loss from two Pittsburgh fires in the last 10 hours to $400,000.

Motorist Disgusted By Collisions, Gives Auto To Policeman

Riverside, Calif. (AP)—Policeman Woodrow W. Bailey is the new and surprised owner of an expensive 12-cylinder automobile.

Bailey said motorist John Henry Smith signed the ownership registration slip over to him at the police station. It came about this way:

Smith and the car were involved in an accident Thursday. Bailey pulled him from the slightly damaged car. Smith said "I'm tired of this car. This isn't the first wreck I've had in it. Do you want it?"

Bailey said he dusted Smith off, wiped the blood from his face and soothed: "Take it easy. You're shaken up a bit, but you'll feel better after awhile." Yesterday, to his astonishment, Smith made good on the gift offer.

There's a little more to the story: the car is a 1936 model.

Universal Military Training Denounced In Talk by Hoffman

Benton Harbor, Mich., Feb. 21 (AP)—Rep. Clare Hoffman of Michigan's fourth congressional district, denounced compulsory military training, accused the administration of going all-out against communism abroad while failing to combat it at home, and said the Marshall Plan is a "nebulous" proposal about which his backers cannot give the people definite information, in a speech before 200 farmers at the Riverside grange hall Friday night.

"I am not in favor of the bill before Congress to establish compulsory military training," Hoffman said. "But I do advocate the furtherance of military training in high schools, colleges, and the National Guard."

Hair Shampoo Made From Poor Coffee

Brooklyn, N. Y.—Hair shampoo is now being manufactured from sub-standard and other coffee which cannot be used for beverage purposes. Other products developed to utilize coffee that would normally be wasted are scheduled to be introduced later in the year.

The oils, glycerized materials and tannic acid contained in coffee beans form the basic ingredients in the new shampoo produced here by Coffette Products, Inc. These natural raw materials, with no alcohol or harsh chemicals added, are said to give the shampoo unique qualities.

Red Cross Campaign Plans Are Completed

Delta County Chapter of American Red Cross is now making plans for its annual fund drive. Dr. Vernon K. Johnson will chair the campaign, designed to net the County Welfare unit $12,750.

The goal last year, in this county, was $10,255. The increase in amount required is to offset heavy expenses encountered this year by National Red Cross in assisting disaster cases.

In 1947 there were no disasters in Delta County but the Chapter

At Marquette

Marquette, Feb. 21 (Special)—Miss Nancy Carol Johnson, 19-year-old blue-eyed blonde, was crowned Queen of the North in the finale of Marquette's winter carnival here last night. She was one of 13 contestants from 13 Upper Peninsula communities, including Miss Marion Birkenmeier, of Escanaba.

Miss Johnson is a graduate of the Patricia Stevens Modeling school in Detroit and last summer held the title of "First Princess of Southern Michigan." She also was a candidate in the "Miss Michigan" bathing beauty contest. She is a high school senior.

The Upper Peninsula queens were entertained at a Marquette Junior Chamber of Commerce "Tom Breneman Breakfast" broadcast this morning and were to be entertained at other events this afternoon and evening.

Truman Will Pass Picket Lines On Puerto Rico Visit

San Juan, Puerto Rico, (AP)—El Imparcial said Tuesday President Truman will have to pass through a Puerto Rican Youth Congress picket line when he visits President Jesus T. Pinero Saturday.

The newspaper said the Youth Congress plans to picket Mr. Truman when he arrives on a Caribbean visit. The reason for the planned picketing was not announced.

The Youth Congress plans to hold a committee meeting tomorrow at the University of Puerto Rico, El Imparcial said. Youth Congress delegations from throughout the island have been asked to attend.

The White House announced President Truman will visit Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and Cuba during his trip. He is to leave Washington by airplane Friday and is expected to arrive in San Juan the next morning.

El Imparcial is an independent newspaper and the largest in Puerto Rico.

ANDERSON HIT BY CAR, BELIEF

Young Man Has Fracture
Of Skull, Other
Injuries

Escanaba police indicated this morning that they believe John Anderson, 27, of 1214 Stephenson avenue, who is in St. Francis hospital with a skull fracture and other injuries, was struck by a hit and run driver early Wednesday morning. Anderson's condition remains serious and no visitors are allowed.

Police officers investigating the case reported that Anderson's hat, glasses and a denture were found at the intersection of Stephenson avenue and Sheridan road. Additional pieces of the broken eyeglasses were found in the snow this morning by police.

Anderson was unable to provide any clues to what happened to him between 12:40 a. m. Wednesday when he left the Y tavern and an hour later when he arrived home injured and dazed. He had not been drinking, bartenders and others who were with him that night at the Y tavern reported to police.

In addition to a fractured skull, Anderson sustained torn ligaments in his legs and internal injuries. Because of the seriousness of his condition, police have been unable to question Anderson at the hospital.

President Madison was the first President after George Washington to revive Thanksgiving.

Pedestrian Hit By Car Sustains Broken Right Leg

George Bryson, 59, of 1312 N. 22nd street, sustained a fracture of the right leg and lacerations when he was struck by an automobile driven by Robert Jensen, 1509 Stephenson avenue, in the 300 block of Stephenson avenue about 11 o'clock Friday evening. Bryson was crossing Stephenson avenue from east to west at the time of the mishap and Jensen was travelling south on Stephenson avenue. Jensen's car struck Bryson with the left front fender. Bryson was taken to St. Francis hospital.

History Society Ticket Deadline Is Monday Noon

Persons who plan to attend the Delta County Historical Society dinner meeting to be held at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday in the Delta hotel are requested to obtain their tickets before Monday noon, so that dinner reservations can be completed.

Charles Follo, chairman of the Historical Society organization committee, said that tickets can be obtained at Carnegie Public Library in Escanaba, and from Mrs. C. E. Hawkins, Gladstone.

Principal speaker at the dinner meeting will be Charles D. Rockhill of Lansing, field agent for the Michigan Historical Commission. The Delta county group is expected to affiliate with the state society to further the collection and preservation of historical data from this area.

Organization of the Delta County Historical Society will be completed at Tuesday night's meeting with the election of permanent officers.

Santa Fe, N. M., was entered on Aug. 18, 1846, by Stephen Watts Kearny, who claimed it for the United States.

BUREAU PARLEY OPENS TUESDAY

• Maj. Gen. Ralph Royce
Will Speak At Marquette

Marquette — Major General Ralph Royce, veteran of two World Wars and recently appointed managing director of the Michigan Department of Economic Development, will be one of the principal speakers during the annual mid-winter meeting of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau in Marquette next week.

The Bureau's two-day session, Tuesday and Wednesday, Feb. 24 and 25, will be held in connection with gatherings of the Economic Development Commission and the Upper Peninsula Industrial Conference.

General Royce, born in Marquette and reared in Hancock, will share the speaking program at a Tuesday evening banquet in the Hotel Northland with Ben F. Clark, field representative of the MEDC, and Gervase T. Murphy, vice-chairman of that department. John I. Keeton, Munising, Bureau president, will preside and Mayor James J. Beckman, Marquette, will welcome delegates.

The annual meeting will open at 11 Tuesday morning with a meeting of the Bureau's executive committee in the city hall. Registration will follow in the Hotel Northland at 11, and a noon luncheon will be held there at noon. Charles A. Rockhill, of the Michigan Historical Commission, will speak at the luncheon.

The main business session will begin at 2 in the city hall, where the secretary and treasurer's reports will be given, the 1948 budget presented and committees appointed. Following report of U. P. industrial committees, addresses will be given by Robert Furlong, administrative secretary of the Michigan Tourist Council, and by A. A. Anderson, of the Michigan Highway Department.

The Economic Development Commission will meet at the same time in the private dining room of the Hotel Northland, with G. T. Murphy presiding.

Representatives of Railroads, local industrial committees, Chamber of Commerce officials, members of the Michigan Economic Development Commission, and Public Service Commission, as well as directors and officers of the Development Bureau, have been invited to Wednesday morning's meeting, which will begin at 9:30 in the city hall.

Bureau President Keeton will preside and a discussion on "Upper Peninsula Industrial Development" will be led by George E. Bishop, secretary-manager of the Bureau. The discussion will include progress report on surveys, proposed Upper Peninsula industrial brochure and setting up a policy and program for future development.

Frederick W. Olmstead, assistant chief of the Area Development Division of the U. S. Department of Commerce, will speak at a noon luncheon Wednesday, final event of the two-day meeting. Mayor Beckman will preside at the luncheon and a report of the committee on unification of Michigan's two Peninsulas will be given by R. W. Jenner, Marquette, member of the Economic Development Commission. Jenner's report will be discussed and there will be a report by the resolutions committee.

Ensign

Home Ec' Meeting

Ensign, Mich.—Members of the Ensign Home Economics Extension Group met Tuesday evening at the Alton School. The lesson for the evening was called "Meals Made Easy", and the local leaders, Mrs. Olaf Larsen and Miss Anne Mauhar served a delicious supper to all members and guests present. About 32 people attended. After the meal, a business meeting was held at which time Mrs. Larsen and Miss Mauhar handed out recipes and answered questions on the preparation of the different foods served. Mrs. Ferris Bouchard and Mrs. Dave Constantino were selected as leaders for the February lesson, with Mrs. Bob Olson as alternate.

Personals

Word has been received here that Mr. and Mrs. Al Glenski of Utica, N. Y., are the recent parents of a son, Charles Gary. Mrs. Glenski is the former June Kallerson of Ensign.

H. F. Gustafson and Mrs. Earl Kaiser attended the "Our Community Tomorrow" Institute held at the Escanaba Junior high school on Wednesday and Thursday.

A large group of Ensign folks attended the PTA meeting at the Rapid River high school Thursday evening and enjoyed the program there very much.

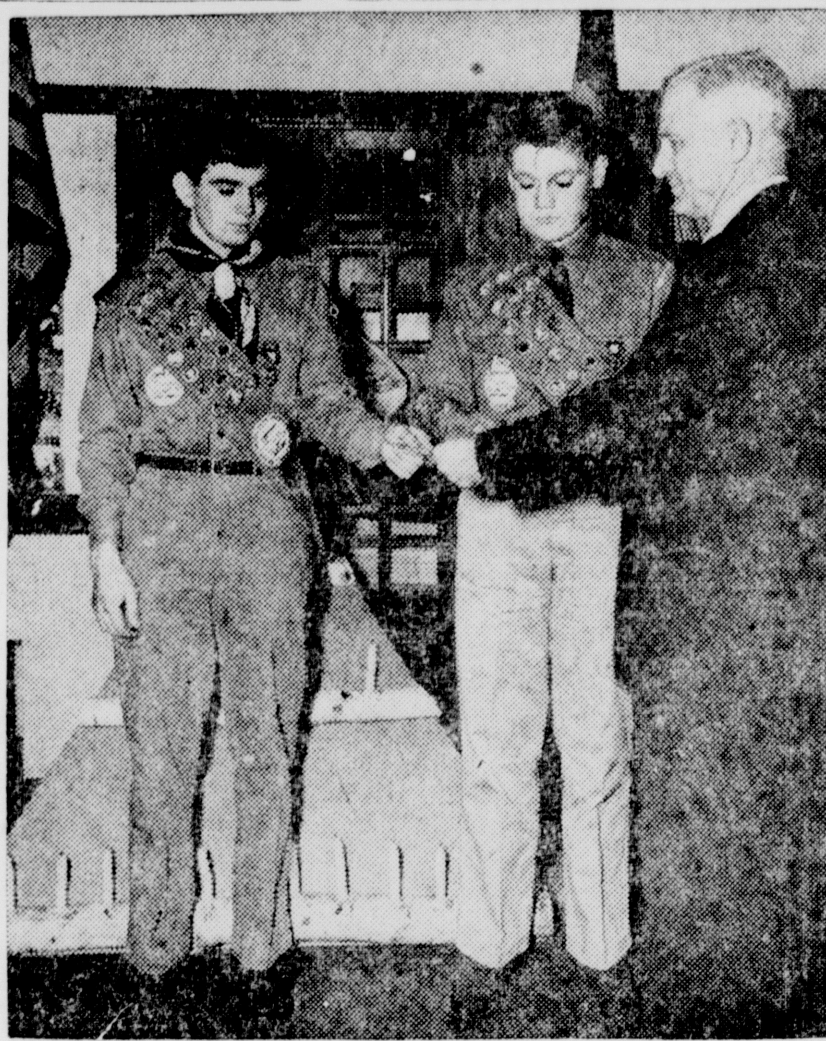

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Sebeck of Gladstone visited with the Ed Hansen family on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hjalmer Nelson visited with Mr. and Mrs. Bob Anderson of Gladstone Sunday.

Callers Sunday at the Andrew Johnson home were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Persson of Rapid River.

Speaker Here

William G. Robinson, assistant in Community Organization, University of Michigan, who was a staff member of "Our Community Tomorrow" Institute at Escanaba, will speak at the Ogontz strange hall Thursday afternoon, Feb. 26. Mr. Robinson is an authority on recreation for youth, and it is hoped that a large group of parents and other people interested will attend.

VA HOSPITAL SITE OPPOSED

Battle Creek Doctor
Criticizes Project At
Iron Mountain

Milwaukee (AP)—The president of the American Hospital Association blasted the proposed construction of more veterans' hospitals.

Dr. Graham L. Davis of Battle Creek, Mich., declared such construction would "play into the hands of the leftists and advocates of compulsory health insurance." Addressing the midwinter conference of the Wisconsin Hospital Association he said the building of new hospitals for veterans cuts in to the supply of doctors and nurses of community hospitals.

Dr. Davis declared at least 37,000 beds in community hospitals now are vacant because of personnel shortages.

He predicted that under the federal veterans' program this country would have 300,000 more beds than it needs in from 15 to 20 years.

"If a leftist government should be in control in Washington and a lot of veterans' hospital beds are vacant, the pressure would be on for compulsory health insurance and federal control of all the hospitals," Dr. Davis said.

He stated that "it is debatable whether the government should run any hospital, except perhaps hospitals for the armed forces."

Dr. Davis said the Veterans' Administration had not held to the program advocated by Gen. Omar Bradley, former administrator, and Gen. Paul Hawley, medical director, to place new hospitals in large cities near medical centers.

Upper Peninsula Zionists Elect

Iron River, Mich.—Leadership of the Upper Peninsula Zionist Bureau formerly centered in the hands of Iron county Jewish men was redistributed more widely at their request here Sunday during an annual election.

Between 50 and 60 leading Jewish men of peninsula cities came to Iron River for the afternoon business session at Temple Ahavas Anshim, the synagogue of the Iron county Jewish congregation on Cayuga street.

Carl Blum of Iron Mountain was elected president, succeeding Leslie Selin of Iron River who was chairman of arrangements for the meeting.

Other officers named are: Frank Milavetz, Ironwood, vice president; Herman Miller, Crystal Falls, secretary, succeeding J. J. Drey of Iron River; and Joseph Fine, Marquette, treasurer, who succeeds Theodore Dubinsky, Ishpeming. Charles Gessner, Escanaba department store owner, was re-elected honorary president.

Candidates to be initiated Wednesday include: Maj. Edwin J. Leer, John P. Gaffney, Edward M. Reynolds, Paul H. Johnson, John Cleary, Edward L. Gravelle, Glenn Caswell and Norris A. Deviley.

Railroaders Start Hobo Basket, Raise Polio Fight Funds

Birmingham, Alabama, (AP)—The "Hobo Basket," answer of three railroaders to the fight against infantile paralysis, is well toward completion today of a 9,600 mile errand.

Already the basket has collected $1,885 for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Three clerks in the southern railway yard here, R. E. Kinnane, W. M. Hanes and C. H. Pate, started the picnic basket on its journey Dec. 22.

Self-addressed postcards were placed in it when it left here aboard a freight train, the basket's only mode of travel. The yardmaster at each terminal along the line fills out one of the cards with the amount collected and the basket's arrival and departure time.

He also indicates whether the money is given to the local chapter of the foundation or sent to Birmingham. About 90 percent of the donations have been sent back here, Kinnane said.

So far the basket has been passed from the southern railway to the Frisco, Rock Island, Chicago and Northwestern, Milwaukee, Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic and Great Northern Roads, with many cities and railroads still on the itinerary.

DUST BUECHNER AT HAMILTON, O.

Former Gladstone City
Manager Crusaded
Against Vice

Hamilton, O., (AP)—Frank R. Buechner said he was removed from his job as Hamilton city manager because of his efforts "to enforce the laws against organized vice."

Buechner, formerly city manager at Superior, Wis., as ousted from his Ohio job Wednesday by a four-to-one vote of the city council. Councilman Frank Rosendahl led the forces opposing Buechner. Rosendahl declined to give reasons for the action.

Friends of the former city manager struck back, saying they would prepare petitions to remove Buechner's opponents from the council.

Buechner came here in October 1946, after leaving Superior, where he gained a reputation for fighting gambling and vice. As Hamilton city manager he continued the program. Records show 60 arrests on gambling charges.

Buechner served as city manager at Gladstone, Mich., about fifteen years ago.

Soviets Claim U. S. And Britain Worked On Separate Peace

Moscow, Russia (AP)—Russia has accused the United States and Britain of conducting secret talks for a separate peace with Germany in the middle of World War II.

The Soviet Union made the charge this week in the fourth installment of its reply to U. S. state department disclosures of documents regarding Russian-German relations.

A statement said Allen W. Dulles, a brother of John Foster Dulles, represented the U. S. in

George Washington

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY has been chosen this year as the starting day of American Brotherhood Week, which is sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews. This annual observance calls attention to the battle against prejudice and intolerance which must be won if we, as individuals and as a nation, are to live in peace.

Today we usually think of prejudice and intolerance in connection with race and religion. So one might ask, why Washington? Isn't the magnanimous Lincoln a better symbol of brotherhood than the austere first president? What did Washington, great man that he was, do in the cause of brotherhood?

The answer is that he fought a long, bitter battle against prejudice and intolerance though they were not the same evils that we fight today. He led his countrymen in a war against an authority who considered them inferior citizens to their brothers in England. It was a war fought to prove that men are united in a brotherhood of basic rights, and that those rights are not gifts to be granted or withheld according to some royal whim.

When that war was won, Washington led a bloodless but no less bitter fight against another sort of prejudice and intolerance. This time the fight was in the field of domestic politics. The prejudice was against the delegation of state sovereignty to a central government. Individuals and states were intolerant of a higher authority than existed at the time.

The idea of a constitutional convention first took shape in Washington's home. When the convention met, it was Washington who presided. He took no part in debate, and he was not one of the Constitution's authors. But it was Washington as much as anyone who kept the convention in session, and who insisted that the result of its work be a radically new blueprint of unity, not a patchwork of old laws in a different design.

Out of that convention came the United States of America. Out of it came the concept of national brotherhood, though its realization was not quick or easy.

As president, Washington worked forcefully to make the ideal of equality, unity and common national interest an actual operation of government. When he left office the ideal was a reality, and the new nation was on its way.

Today, thanks in no small part to George Washington, it is far more important that a person is an American than that he is a Georgian or Pennsylvanian or Kansan. The job for all of us now is to speed the day when an American's religion or race is no more a reason for intolerance than is the state that he hails from.

OAA Lien Clause

THE TOWNSEND CLUBS of Michigan are carrying on a fight to eliminate the so-called lien clause in the Michigan old age assistance law. This clause provides that property of persons who are recipients of old age assistance shall be subject to state liens upon the death of the property owner.

The lien clause has been instrumental in saving taxpayers thousands of dollars since the restriction went into effect. The clause does not seek to dispossess the property rights of old age assistance clients. It merely provides that their estates will be reduced proportionately to the old age assistance checks received from the state. In other words, the old age assistance recipient does not suffer as a result of the law but his heirs will receive a correspondingly reduced inheritance.

The effect of the law has been to encourage relatives of aged persons to assume responsibility for their maintenance rather than to let the cost of maintenance fall upon the public at large. That, of course, was the purpose of the lien clause and it is one based upon fairness and common sense.

The Townsends, mainly aged persons, follow the theory that large pensions should be paid to all citizens after they have passed the age of greatest productivity as a stimulus to economic prosperity. The theory is predicated upon the fallacy that "something for nothing" is good economics for the nation.

Wallace's Victory

THE VICTORY of Henry Wallace's candidate, Leo Isacson, in New York's 24th district special congressional election this week was a startling upset and a stunning defeat for the Democratic party in this presidential election year. The amazing aspect of Isacson's victory was the size of his plurality. He polled nearly twice as many votes as the Democratic candidate, whose victory had been regarded as a foregone conclusion by the Democratic organization.

Wallace's strength in the New York 24th district, of course, does not mean that Wallace stands any reasonable chance of being elected president of the United States in the third party movement. It does mean, however, that Wallace constitutes a much more serious threat to the Democratic hopes than the party leaders had been willing to admit. The American Labor party victory in New York indicates that Wallace may pull enough votes from the Democrats in that state to assure a Republican victory in New York.

Wallace may also be able to draw enough support in California to deliver that presently doubtful state to the Republicans in the presidential elections. The electoral votes of New York and California would almost certainly assure a Republican victory in the national election, in view of the strong Republican support in the middle west.

The New York 24th district has an exceptionally high Jewish vote and undoubtedly the Palestine partition issue was predominant in that campaign. Isacson's militant pro-Palestine stand was the deciding factor in his victory, overshadowing Wallace's personal feud with the Democratic national organization.

The results of this special election showed, also, that Communists who are among the most vigorous supporters of Henry Wallace, are indefatigable in door to door election campaigns. This should serve as a warning to the friends of democracy in the approaching elections.

New Profits For Stalin

THE SUPREME COURT of Soviet Russia this week issued a ruling that accurately portrays the philosophy of the Communist rulers. The court ruled that individuals owing money to the state or to state institutions before the currency reform of last Dec. 16 must pay their debts in rubles, but that any debts owed by the state must be paid off at the rate of one new ruble for ten old ones.

On Dec. 16 Russia devalued its currency, giving only one new ruble for each 10 held by its citizens except that the first 3,000 rubles of bank deposits were redeemed at full value.

The Soviet court's ruling means, for instance, that a Russian citizen who owed the state, say 1,000 old rubles on Dec. 16, must now pay 1,000 new rubles to redeem the debt, even though the Russian citizen might have turned in 10,000 old rubles on Dec. 16 to get the 1,000 new rubles that he now needs to pay the bill.

On the other hand, if the Soviet government owed, let us say 1,000 rubles to one of its citizens on Dec. 16, it now will pay that citizen only 100 new rubles. Needless to say, the Soviet government will make a neat profit on these transactions. The ruble devaluation, it will be recalled, enabled the Soviet government to reduce its national debt by about two-thirds at the expense of Russian currency holders.

BILLIONS AND BILLIONS (Christian Science Monitor)

Perhaps, billions make you dizzy. Well, try these:

In one year Americans spent $8,700,000,000 on liquor, $2,500,000,000 on charity.

In one year they spent $6,000,000,000 on the races, $2,500,000,000 on education.

Such figures don't tell the whole story, but they are a useful reminder that "where your treasure is, there will your heart be also."

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington.—The type that best sums up our perplexed civilization in this moment of decision is the scientist. He has given into the hands of a society just struggling out of the new stone age the supreme power over life and death on this planet and his conscience is deeply troubled.

The hundreds of scientists working for the United States atomic energy commission are not precisely happy. The ratio of AEC money and effort going into the military end of the program is about 97 per cent to 3 per cent for peacetime uses. That, at any rate, is the rough approximation that the scientists arrive at.

Members of the commission say that no such arbitrary breakdown is possible. Work that is being done to develop and improve the atomic bomb will contribute also to peacetime development and understanding of atomic energy.

THE REACTOR PROGRAM

The chief complaint of the scientists comes over what is known as the reactor program. With the vast quantities of radioactive material available from the atomic project, it is possible to study secrets of nature hitherto beyond the range of man's most powerful instruments. Thus it may become possible through reactors to learn how plants store up food for man and animals. With such knowledge, basic food could be easily manufactured in the laboratory.

But the scientists say that AEC is not attacking this new frontier with anything like the vigor and the thoroughness that such a stirring potential should call forth. Here, of course, you get down to something pretty fundamental in a world such as ours, where money values determine what is one or not one.

One of the top atomic physicists put it this way:

"What should be done is obvious enough. Twenty to thirty million dollars—a big enough sum—should be turned over to scientists working on the reactor program. They should be told: 'Here is the money. Now get to work. If you come up with something in the next few years, fine. If you don't, then we will understand that you did your best and failed.'"

Government, however, doesn't work that way, and neither does business. There are such things as budget bureaus and cost accountants who want to know how money is spent and what are the results. In wartime such procedure was possible. But our peacetime habits can hardly encompass such a bold indifference to budgets and accounting.

BUREAUCRACY IS OBSTACLE
Bureaucracy, whether of government or business, is a stumbling block to the creative mind of the scientist—and he grumbles. A scientist at the Oak Ridge laboratory has a brilliant idea. He puts the outline of it down on paper, and then weeks or months go by before someone in authority makes a decision.

The general advisory committee to AEC, created under the law, prepared a report on the peacetime use of atomic energy, with special emphasis on a timetable for the future. This committee is made up of seven scientists and two businessmen, with J. Robert Oppenheimer, one of the nation's top physicists, as chairman.

The report set a date for the development of peacetime power from atomic energy considerably in advance of estimates made earlier, when civilian control was an issue. The report has been held up for three months, although some pressure has been brought to release it. The commissioners say they feel it is unwise to fix a time schedule in the public mind when an unexpected development may completely upset it.

But in spite of some differences, relations with the scientists have vastly improved. This was attested in a letter sent to AEC on Jan. 1, which said in part:

"On the occasion of the first birthday of the atomic energy commission, the council of the Federation of American scientists sends its congratulations on the excellent progress the commission has made in reorganizing the atomic project on a peacetime basis. At this time last year, morale in the laboratories was low and the prospect of adequate progress in the field of atomic energy seemed poor. Since that time, the laboratories have been put on a firm basis, and good arrangements have been made for cooperation with university scientists and with industrial firms whose specialized experience is necessary in the development of atomic power."

What really troubles sensitive men of science is that their creative energy should be going toward bigger and better weapons of mass destruction. But the fault lies not with them. It lies with the sick and disjointed nature of the time in which we live.

suffix -er is not masculine. However, the feminine -ess, which has all but disappeared in modern English, is still proper in a few nouns: actress, waitress, hostess, enchantress.

Are you uncertain about the pronunciation of such words as schedule, graduate, picture, feature? Do you think it is wrong to say GRAD-joo-ate, PIK-cher? Mr. Colby's leaflet on palatization, C-18, will remove your uncertainty; and will give you the correct pronunciation. ## 'Keep Following It, Son, You Can't Go Wrong'

Good Evening

By Clint Dunathan

BREAKFAST—Are you the sort who starts your morning with a poor appetite that is satisfied with a cup of coffee and cigarette? If you are you are probably wasting food by eating a too large and too late dinner, according to food studies made at the University of Chicago.

And if you fall into the "I just can't eat a thing in the morning" classification, you are probably lagged out before noon, irritable, inefficient, non-productive, and generally no account. You can also be fat, which is scarcely compatible with the "new look." How can you be both fat and hungry? By over-eating at night and letting the body absorb excess food that soon becomes that spare tire for which you have no need.

OLD-FASHIONED—For reasons not yet apparent, there is the belief among a large section of Americans that a big breakfast denotes vulgarity. Probably this stems from an altogether artificial desire to be unlike the men and women who labor with their muscles. They require something more than a cup of black coffee and a French roll to keep them going through a long morning of work. The delicate ones, therefore, decide that oatmeal, toast, hams and eggs, fried potatoes and three cups of coffee with cream and sugar are too suggestive of the life of a day laborer for them to eat more than their one cup of black coffee and a French roll.

And so they starve their tummies in the morning but whop it on for the rest of the day. When they roll in at night they are carrying enough in their breadbasket to stake a section hand for a day's work driving spikes. No wonder they have a delicate appetite in the morning.

COMING BACK—Skipping for the time being the question of whether it is more vulgar to load up your stomach in the morning or in the evening, suppose we consider the signs indicating a trend toward more hearty breakfasts.

For too many years Americans have been assailed by advertising pressure to eat a bowl of Krispy-Krunchies and forget the welfare of their stomachs. There are enough vitamins, proteins, starches, delicate hearts of wheat, dried egg yolk and carbohydrates in one bowl of Krispy-Krunchies to give an elephant a complete diet for one year, said the manufacturers. Now we hear rumblings of revolution. Most of the breakfast food manufacturers are turning out a cereal that must be cooked. Eat a hearty breakfast, they advise. Eat a steaming bowl of cooked wheat or oatmeal.

A steaming bowl of cooked cereal sounds like the beginning of a good old-fashioned breakfast. Along with it, however, went a considerable amount of other provender. The advocacy of the steaming bowl is a start, nevertheless, and is one way to make the modern American understand that a good breakfast is a firm foundation for a morning's work.

NOTE IN PASSING—What has become of the prune, that breakfast staple of the past? Once upon a time no breakfast was considered complete without a bowl of stewed prunes. Grandpa believed they were as necessary to his health and well-being as his morning bowl of oatmeal.

Now the prune has been replaced in public favor by citrus fruits, and there is no longer the problem of how to dispose of a prune pit. Incidentally, we recall two schools of prune-pit-disposing when we were a boy. Some folks simply popped the pit noisily into their plate; others delicately deposited the pit into a spoon and transferred it back to the plate.

However it was done, it was a necessity, for we never heard of anyone swallowing a prune pit except by accident.

FOR THE CHILDREN—Nutritionists say that children who have little or no breakfast are likely to be undernourished because they cannot take in enough food at the other two meals to supply their daily requirements. They contend that "the forgotten or hasty breakfast, and the skippy lunch may be a real reason for Junior's drowsiness and low grades."

Further, the breakfastless may suffer loss of weight for those who need more padding, bad temper on the part of the father, and overweight for mother.

This sounds altogether alarming and might be discounted except that it appears to be entirely reasonable. Between the evening meal and the noon lunch there is a period of 18 foodless hours if breakfast is skipped.

WHY YOU NEED IT—Food eaten early in the day (at breakfast) is digested and absorbed during the active daytime hours. The body gets the most benefit from food eaten at breakfast, and at noon. Better a hearty breakfast and ample lunch to carry you through the work-day than a big dinner to make you stupidly stuffed in the evening.

Besides, it is more economical if you space out your intake of food; more economical for the budget and for the amount of food you consume. You can do with less in total if you have three adequate meals than if you have two skimpy ones and an enormous dinner.

This probably not convert the breakfastless addict to a new routine. It has been our experience that to enjoy breakfast you must arise earlier and have time for the meal before your workday starts. How to get up in time for breakfast is the major problem.

By Hal Boyle

New York, (AP)—Too many years ago today in a big old wooden house on Michigan avenue in Kansas City an interesting thing happened to me.

I was born.

I didn't get out of bed that day, and I don't think I will today either. What good is an anniversary if you don't try to keep the old atmosphere?

Why not just sprawl here with a pillow under my neck and let the past roll by? It's as good a way as any to spend a birthday.

Living sure is a lot of trouble. Takes up all a man's time.

Take a simple little thing like disease. I've run through cold, chicken pox, measles, bronchitis, strep throat and puppy love.

Or take accidents. No sooner do you start life than time begins chipping away at mother's little masterpiece. A personal index of misadventures and missing parts: I've fallen off bobsleds, tree limbs, street cars, fences, horses, chairs, desks, tables, boxcars and a number of water wagons.

A schoolteacher and a cow have kicked me. I have been bitten by a goat, trampled by a pig, pecked by a goose, kissed on both cheeks by a liberated Frenchman, scratched by three cats and spat upon by an old Nazi woman. I have been bitten by four dogs, a jealous lady friend in kindergarten, a field mouse, a pet squirrel—and many, many times by an elderly man named remorse.

I have been bowled over by a brunette and run over by a hit-and-run scooter and a bicycle. A romantic couple on ice skates, a speeding U. S. army motorcycle in Paris and a slow milkwagon in Greenwich Village.

In sports I have been hit in the head with a horseshoe—the horse wasn't wearing it, luckily—and cracked across the face with a baseball bat. I also sprained both ankles up to the knees, broke one elbow, one jaw, one tooth, and the only nose I ever had. I also dislocated one hip. How many letters in athletics do you think I won? None.

I arrived too late to join the "lost generation" and too early for the one which is the hope of tomorrow. Just going around in blind circles.

Eager for Second Childhood
When I got out of college, I landed right in the middle of the biggest depression in history—and they weren't hiring young men who knew nothing except that you shouldn't use a preposition to end a sentence with.

I hadn't learned to play marbles well when the first World War ended, and when the second war closed, I still didn't know any better than to bet $25 against a Lieutenant who held three aces.

Here I am at 37, looking more and more like a balloon after every meal. And I'm getting bald so fast that when I ask the barber for a hair trim he says: "both of 'em!"

I still can't drive a motor car, sew on a button, tie a necktie properly, or spell hemorrhoids. I mean hemorrhoids, or maybe it's hemorrhoids? Oh, who cares?

"Would you like to go back and live your life all over again?" asks my wife.

None. Not me, I'm going to tie here all day and make plans for second childhood. It ought to be lots more fun.

And I don't know a better place to begin it than where I started the first one—lying abed.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington.—Behind the move to shift the grain-speculation probe from the Senate appropriations committee to the Senate expenditures committee is a strong backstage attempt to hush up the facts regarding the amazing grain and cotton deals of Senator Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma.

The drive to let Senator Thomas off the hook is spearheaded by Senator Millard Tydings of Maryland, with the support of most other Democrats in the appropriations committee. They don't like to see a fellow Democrat in trouble, and Thomas himself happens to be a member of this committee.

During a recent closed-door appropriations committee meeting Tydings bluntly demanded of Senator Ferguson of Michigan, Republican, that the Thomas probe be called off.

"He's written you a letter telling of his market transactions," declared Tydings. "What more do you want? There's no use continuing this persecution."

"Nevertheless," replied Ferguson, who is chairman of the sub-appropriations committee probing grain speculators, "I'm going to continue the investigation of Senator Thomas and all others until I get the facts."

However, Tydings and colleagues have managed to block an expenditure of $20,000 which Ferguson needs to pay investigators before he can proceed further. Appropriations committee Democrats are expected to vote against this $20,000 unless their colleague, Thomas, is exempt from further inquiry. Also it looks as if enough Republicans would join them to save the gentleman from Oklahoma.

In fact, when the question of publicizing grain speculators arose last December, Senator Chan Gurney of South Dakota and Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts joined the Democrats in voting no.

That is why hard-hitting Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, chairman of the appropriations committee and who favors a full and fearless investigation, has worked out a plan with Ferguson to transfer the speculation probe over to the Senate expenditures committee. Ferguson is also a member of this committee, and would have the support not only of its courageous chairman, Aiken of Vermont, but of a more liberal committee membership, including Tyne (Minn.), Hickenlooper (Iowa), Ives (N. Y.), and Taylor (Idaho).

Note—Aside from Bridges and Ferguson, the Senate appropriations committee includes some of the most reactionary members in the Senate—McKellar (Tenn.), Brooks (Ill.), Wherry (Neb.), Dworshak (Idaho), McCarran (Nev.), Overton (La.), and Thomas himself.

LOYAL U. S. SERVANTS
People who have been worried about the Red scare and the specter of spies working inside the U. S. government should be reassured from J. Edgar Hoover's investigation of so-called "disloyalty." Actually, Hoover hasn't found very much of it.

Hoover's efficient G-men have now been able to investigate 418,104 U. S. employees. Of this number, only 399 were found to have records which warranted even the remotest suspicion.

Of these 399, in only 8 cases did any disloyal data develop. Twenty-five government employees resigned during the investigation and some of the other remaining cases have not yet been finished. However, it looks as if so-called disloyalty is going to run far less than 1/10 of 1 per cent.

ARMY VIOLATES LAW
Congressman Forrest Harness, Indiana Republican, is preparing another hot report criticizing the Army for using public funds to propagandize for peacetime conscription.

Harness will charge that the Army is continuing its propagandizing at public expense, despite a report by the House expenditures committee last July clearly showing that brass hats were violating the law and had spent more than $50,000 of the public's money for lobbying purposes.

When called on the carpet, Secretary of the Army Royall said he had "no personal knowledge" of the lobbying campaign and he "had no apologies to make."

Royall was technically right on the first point, since he became secretary of war in July, though as undersecretary of war he should have known what was happening and used his influence against it.

However, Congressman Harness' second report will charge that since July the Army has been sending men from its new UMT unit at Fort Knox, Ky., to all parts of the country to make speeches before Rotary, Kiwanis, and Lions clubs, plugging compulsory military training. The congressman from Indiana will

KARKAJOU KILLER—Charles Burton of Gladstone exhibits the pelts of two wolverines he trapped in the interior of Alaska in 1929. This little-known animal, from which the state of Michigan receives its nickname, is also called karkajou, or glutton.

Wolverine? He's Cussed, Discussed By Trappers

The wolverine is "unbelievably strong", very deliberate in his movements except when he wants to be, and he is extremely confident and sure of himself, according to Charles Burton of Gladstone.

Karkajou, or glutton, as he is sometimes called, can also be overconfident. Burton knows this for he declares that it was not his skill, but the wolverine's overconfidence that resulted in his trapping two of them in the interior of Alaska back in 1928-29. Twenty-six years old and unmarried, Burton answered the call of adventure in 1928 and went to Alaska to visit an uncle, the late Joe Brassel, who had been prospecting and trapping there as early as 1915.

In the Talkeetna Mountain area in the Alaskan interior 100 miles south of Mt. McKinley, Burton and his uncle, and Aage Hansen, a Danish World War I veteran, set up a trap line 60 miles long. Along this trapline they established nine cabins. The nearest doctor was located at Anchorage, 70 miles distant.

They trapped Canada lynx, mink, fox, coyote, otter, weasel, wolverine and, in the springtime open season, beaver. There were marten in the area but they were protected.

From his uncle and from other trappers of the Alaskan wilds country, Burton heard many stories of the strength and audacity of the wolverine, largest member of the weasel family. Clever and cunning in concealing itself from man, the only enemy it fears, the wolverine had become a hated and hunted creature.

"Get a group of Alaskan trappers together and 75 per cent of the discussion will be on the wolverine," Burton said. "The trappers cuss them, but my uncle admired them for their ability to out-guess the trapper. Although he had been there since 1915, he had seen only one outside of a trap."

Burton himself saw only those he trapped. He told how the wolverine would follow a trapline and destroy the bait. The animal seemed to know the size of the trap and the extent of the danger, would jerk out the small traps, and foul up the place.

"I was trying to catch them,"

Burton said of the two wolverines he caught. "But I take no credit for it. They just became overconfident. No trapper can claim that he knows how to take a wolverine."

The wolverine lives chiefly on mice, squirrels, rabbits, spruce hens and other small animals and birds. His movements are deliberate to the point of slowness—except when he wants to exert himself and then they become swift as lightning.

Did the wolverine ever live in Michigan, the "Wolverine State"? Burton is in agreement with Dr. G. W. Barst of the conservation department and others who say "there is doubt as to whether the wolverine ever was a native of this state." Dr. Barst says: "In fact it has never been proved that any wolverine ever lived in Michigan other than as a denizen of some zoo."

Burton's grandfather, Henri Brassel, who died in 1936 at the age of 92, came to Manistique in 1866 and lived there until his death. He never knew of a wolverine inhabiting or being caught in this part of the Upper Peninsula, Burton said.

Conditions in the western U. P. may have been enough similar to the wolverine's natural habitat—the Rocky Mountain range from Idaho north to Alaska—to have permitted its existence there, Burton said. But he doubts that they lived anywhere in the Upper Peninsula.

"If he had, there would have been enough stories on record to substantiate his existence here," Burton believes.

The question may never be settled to the satisfaction of men in Michigan. Meanwhile, the wolverine continues to be trapped occasionally in Alaska, where the Eskimos and whites value its fur for lining the hoods of their parkas. It is one fur on which frost will not accumulate.

NEW WEAPON FOR POLIO WAR

Researchers Of U. of M. Now Employing An Ultracentrifuge

Ann Arbor—University of Michigan researchers have a new weapon in their war on poliomyelitis.

It is an electrically driven ultracentrifuge which operates on the principle of centrifugal force. With it, doctors in the Virus Laboratory at the School of Public Health hope to learn a great deal more about the virus which causes infantile paralysis.

Certain essential information concerning this virus still must be gained before a cure or preventive measure can be developed, according to Dr. Thomas Francis, Jr., chairman of the Department of Epidemiology in the School of Public Health. Viruses are tiny organisms which cause such diseases as influenza and measles, in addition to polio. They are so small that they cannot be seen with the ordinary microscope.

Second of its type constructed by the Specialized Instrument Corporation of California, the instrument was purchased with funds provided by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. The other ultracentrifuge of this type is at the University of California, Dr. Martin Hanig, research associate at the School of Public Health, said.

The new machine will be used to whirl infectious solutions containing viruses at speeds up to 1,000 revolutions per second. The centrifugal force caused by the spinning will pull the minute viruses out of the solutions so the viruses may be purified and concentrated. This will enable a more penetrating study of the organisms, leading to a greater knowledge of their growth, reproduction and chemical constitution.

Thousands Violate Game Reporting Law

Lansing (AP)—Conservation Department official said 456,328 small game hunters, 267,960 deer hunters and 10,081 trappers failed to file game kill report cards on the Feb. 15 deadline.

The reports are required by law, the officials said, and those who do not file them commit a technical misdemeanor, but no prosecutions are expected to result.

Well when the February Thaw melted Grand Pa Olafson which is 92 year old by the Ground Hog and looks like one without a shave he figure it is about time to go down to the Corner & shovel out the Mail box out of the Snow Drift on acct. it is about time for the mail order and Send and etc. Cattlogs to come but the snow was to Deep yet so Grand Pa gave it up until it melts some more and he looked it up in the Farmers Friend Almanic and Helpfull Hints to Health also cooking Receipts & Remedys for Horse & Cattle and in that Almanic it says what is the use but the Almanic also stated that this is Leap Yr. and Grand Pa says they all ways have Ellection on Leap Yrs. and he is a born Politician on acct. he was Town ship Highway Commiser 40 year ago so Tursday night he started up the Raddio to see who is running this yr. but every place on the Raddio he listen it is Truman talking all excepting one station and that was Talking French and Grand Pa is not French and even Escanaba station which Grand Pa thought was run by Rappapublican News paper but it had only Truman Talking too so Grand Pa got degusted and shut down the Raddio on acct. it was his bed Time any how by that time but I sure hope we can find a Rappapublican Raddio for him to Pep him up.

OLAFSON

Well we been working on plans all winter for the Bridge across the Bay to Stonington and my Cousin which worked in a Gas station where they have hoister to raising up the automobiles and he furnished the idea for raising up the Middle part of the bridge for boats to going through & there will be four hoisters one on each corner and you just let the water in and the Water pressing pushes them Hoisters up and raise up the middle piece of the bridge and we think may be we can fix it with Raddio so when they hear the boats Toot and when the boat gets past the bridge will come down when the Water comes out of the hoister in a big Squirt

Wierd Ball of Fire Exploding in Sky Seen in Six States

Kansas City, Kansas, (AP)—Observers Thursday sought further explanation of a strange "ball of fire", possibly a disintegrating meteor, seen in six states. The brilliant explosion thousands of feet in the air was observed in Kansas, Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Nebraska and Colorado Wednesday.

Oscar Monnig, secretary of the National Meteorological Society, said at Fort Worth, Tex., he felt sure the fire ball was a meteor disintegrating.

Officials of the Chamberlin observatory at the University of Denver, could offer no explanation. Director A. W. Recht said there was "no meteor shower and no other known phenomena in the sky to explain it."

At the University of Nebraska, Professor of Astronomy Oliver C. Collins said "It might very well have been a meteor."

Macomb Prosecutor Claims Immunity in $4,600 Bribery Case

Mt. Clemens, Michigan, (AP)—Wilbur F. Held, one-time Macomb county prosecutor who is accused of accepting $4,600 to permit gambling, clung Thursday to his claim of immunity from a bribe conspiracy charge.

He contended at his examination before one-man Grand Juror Herman Dehnke that he had been granted immunity for the period from Jan. 1, 1943, until he resigned as prosecutor last year because of his testimony regarding an alleged gambling conspiracy.

Arthur P. Suave, former slot machine operator in Macomb county, testified that during that time he paid Held $200 to $400 a month in return for the prosecutor's promise to take a "liberal" attitude toward gambling.

However, Suave insisted, despite persistent questioning by Defense Attorney Harrison T. Watson, that the payments were "campaign expenses" and had nothing to do with the reported gambling combine.

Duo-Pianists
In Town Hall
Concert Tonight

Gold and Fisdale, brilliant young duo-pianists, will appear in concert here tonight at 8:15 in William W. Oliver Memorial auditorium. Their appearance is sponsored by Escanaba Town Hall committee under the auspices of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Tickets for the performances of these well-recognized artists, heard by many last year in Ishpeming, may be procured tonight at the door or at Gust Asp's, Home Supply, Household Electric or Tommy's Lunch.

The concert of Gold and Fisdale, heralding the duo-piano combination, feature classical music and much contemporary music, often written especially for them.

Those holding season tickets will hear these as a regular feature.

State Officer to Address Nurses

Miss Hulda Edman, R. N., executive secretary of the Michigan State Nurses' Center association, will be the speaker at a meeting of the Delta County District Nurses' association Tuesday evening, Feb. 24, at the Health Center building. The meeting will begin at 8 o'clock.

Miss Edman will talk on local and state nursing problems.

Anyone wishing transportation to the Health Center is asked to call a member of the committee for the evening: Mrs. Catherine Nichols, Miss Cora Pelletier, and Mrs. Alma Christensen.

Today's Recipes

Salmon Souffle

Two and one-half cups salmon, lemon juice, 1½ tablespoons melted butter or margarine, 1½ tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, 4 egg yolks, slightly beaten, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup bread crumbs, 4 egg whites, beaten stiff, lemon slices, parsley.

Flake salmon and sprinkle with lemon juice. Blend flour with melted butter and add milk. Beat egg yolks and salt. Stir in salmon and bread crumbs. Fold in egg whites. Pour in greased baking dish and set in a pan of hot water. Bake 30 minutes in a moderate oven. Garnish with lemon slices and parsley.

Pre-Shrunk Fabric
Is the Best Buy

Improved fabric finishing processes for controlling shrinkage promise better behavior from clothes and home furnishings.

One of the new methods involves the use of melamine resins to control shrinkage and to make fabrics more resistant to creases. This method is used on cotton, wool, rayon, silk and linen fabrics. These are bathed in a resinous solution, then baked in a hot oven to impregnate the fibers with the resin. The treatment increases the weight of the fabric but control is permanent and will withstand washing or dry-cleaning.

In another process, chlorine is applied to wool fibers to lessen the tendency of scales on the outer surface of the fiber to "felt" or shrink together. Wools so treated should not shrink more than five per cent although fabric must be carefully handled when washed.

To stabilize viscose rayon fabrics so that they will not shrink or stretch more than two per cent is the claim of the new "sanforized" process. Chemical solutions are applied to piece goods to combat the tendency of yarns to swell and become distorted when wet.

Fabrics labeled "sanforized" have been treated by mechanical processes to reduce shrinkage to one per cent. In this process, cloth is sprayed, shrunk and set by special machinery.

Throat Exercise
Keeps Chin Slim

Make every day moving day for your neck muscles, and you'll never have to worry about your throatline losing its grip on youth.

Exercises that keep muscles firm and flexible are so simple to take and require so little conscious effort that no woman need skip the routine because of the inconvenience of exercising or lack of time for it.

All you need to do in the way of exercise is to rotate your head from shoulder to shoulder again and again. You can do this during any odd moment: while waiting for an elevator, while listening to the radio, while resting your eyes after knitting or reading.

If you become bored with this simple head-circling routine, break up the monotony of that exercise by holding your neck firmly in your two palms and moving your head from shoulder to shoulder against the resistance of your hands. Or add this variation to your basic routine of circling your head. Thrust your chin up and while staring at the ceiling, move your head slowly from shoulder to shoulder.

The word "Nevada" is Spanish, and means "snow-clad."

No Dull Moments In Election
Year Says Mrs. Charles Weis

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY

New York. (AP)—This is a year of presidential decision when the one-armed paperhanger is an indolent lot compared with a member of the Republican National Committee with a favorite son on hand.

The palace guards, experts-on-everything and special advisers are working overtime. Meanwhile the 96 members of the national committee (a man and a woman from each state) are out doing political battle on the front lines. This is their big year.

Mrs. Charles W. Weis of Rochester, the New York Committee woman, likes to have a local-boy situation on her hands. While in many ways she does not fit the popular conception of the lady politician, her current activities are pretty typical of her colleagues, male and female, in states where some resident has a yen to sit on the new back porch under construction in Washington.

She is a slim, extremely handsome woman with gray hair, smart clothes, a well-to-do husband, supremely disinterested in politics and three children in college.

She was a political dilettante until the late '30s. Then she began to shoot up through the party ranks. In 1944, she was elected committeewoman as the national convention closed.

What, she was asked, was she going to do this year?

"I'm going to put on some

weight so there'll be more room to display my orchids," replied Mrs. Weis, who would rather wisecrack than flag-wave. "Committeewomen, from my observation, wouldn't be found dead without at least one trembling orchid somewhere in the area of the shoulder."

There was a little more to the job than platform appearances, Mrs. Weiss has found.

Travel Through West

Recently she has been doing considerable traveling, which by some strange coincidence dates from a western "vacation trip" made by the governor of New York. Just suddenly, during an off-season, Mrs. Weis was seized by a great urge to visit the wide open spaces. She didn't know very many people—except fellow Republicans—but somehow word got around that the New York committeewoman was on tour.

Before she had returned to the family homestead, Mrs. Weis had addressed a large number of meetings, breezed through countless sessions and had chatted with some hundreds of the faithful. Much of that talk centered on the then-silent man in Albany.

"He had made no announcement," Mrs. Weis said recently during a brief pause in a four-day New York visit which included at least four public appearances. "The state organization looked on the idea benignly. But it was sort of hard to sell a bill of goods with nothing concrete to go on."

On the trip, therefore, she extolled the record of the 80th Congress, fired some shots at the executive arm of government and then wound up praising the record of government in New York. Everyone caught the pitch. She was working within the familiar framework of pre-convention protocol.

Convention Strategy

Judy Weiss, however, is not the only advance scout of a presidential hopeful. The woods are full of them, and "everyone is being very charming and very cagey." The aim is to pick up pledges of whole delegations—and, if that is impossible, to win promises for breaks on later ballots.

"There's no particular reason for the tradition," Mrs. Weis explained, "but when there's a deadlock, the votes start to run away from a candidate as soon as he drops any votes. That's why everyone tries to chip away the original voting strength each man has."

Thus, even if John Jones rolls up 305 votes in the first ballot, he begins to look like a dead duck if his total can be whittled down to a mere 300. The stampede away from him is likely to start.

The polite battle of strategy for pledges will go on until the convention hall opens in June. Then regardless of who wins or loses, there starts four sleepless months of campaigning.

"I love it," said Mrs. Weiss.

Big Rock Crusher, Groos Landmark For Many Years, Soon To Be Razed

Sixty-four years ago Escanaba was a boom town. But many of its more substantial buildings, some still standing today, were being erected on a firm foundation of limestone dolomite, taken from a stone quarry on the west bank of the Escanaba river at Groos.

The quarry was opened in 1884 by Peter Groos, father of Jacob Groos, and one of this community's pioneer residents. It was purchased in 1893 by Bichler Brothers, in whose ownership it still remains. In 1908 they erected a large stone crusher there, which through the years has become a landmark and a symbol of physical progress in the area for half a century.

Now the 56-foot-high stone crushing plant, built of big timbers and sturdy frames, is to be razed for salvage as soon as the machinery is removed. The building was sold to Frank Barron of Flat Rock, and it will be taken down by Glenn Ohman and Eugene Charles of Flat Rock.

Foundation For A City
Bichler Brothers retain ownership of the land, on which the old quarry is located. In the 64 years the quarry has been operated the stone has been cut out to form a great hole several hundred feet long and more than 30 feet deep.

When the quarry was first opened the stone was used principally for foundations for buildings, and most of the dwellings and business houses in Escanaba were erected on it. Quarried stone has been little used for such purpose for many years, principally because of the higher cost. Today's concrete or concrete blocks are less expensive than are the stone blocks that must be cut from the solid rock and then trimmed to the desired shape.

After Bichler Brothers purchased the quarry in 1893, production was increased, with much of the stone being cut for use as rip-rap in the construction of docks. Stone from the old quarry at Groos will be found in all of the ore docks built at Escanaba with the exception of the two new docks—now dismantled—that the government built during the recent war.

Stone For Blacktop
The "good roads" era that began around the turn of the century brought an ever-increasing demand for crushed stone used in the construction of blacktop surfaced roads. Pounding traffic made these take on the waves that gave them the nickname "galloping h-top," but they brought autos and wagons out of the sand and muck and were an important factor in the development of the highway system in this area.

Concrete highways began to replace the blacktop on principal roads about 12 years ago, and the production of crushed stone at the Bichler Brothers quarry began to decline. Operations dropped off until the crusher would be run only six or eight weeks at a time. Three years ago it ceased operation altogether.

Today crushed gravel has replaced the use of crushed stone in road construction and maintenance. The old stone crusher, that supplied a basic material for the progress of the community is soon to be razed, although the quarry itself has only tapped a part of the vast limestone dolomite deposit that underlies the Flat Rock area.

Grand Marais

W. S. C. S. Meets

Grand Marais, Mich. — The W. S. C. S. met on Tuesday at the home of Miss Isabelle McCall. Mrs. M. F. Touzel presided at the business meeting. The members discussed plans for a Spring bazaar. The group voted to contribute $5.00 to the Red Cross Drive. All members were urged to invite a guest for the next program meeting to be held at the Community church on March 2nd at 8:00 p. m. Lunch was served by the hostess. The following members were present: Mrs. M. Tester, Mrs. W. Hampton, Mrs. R. Erickson, Mrs. James Buckland, Mrs. M. Moles, Mrs. I. Roberts, Mrs. M. F. Touzel, Mrs. Alex Niemi, Jr., Mrs. Felix Pearson, Mrs. W. E. Hill, Mrs. Victor Buckland, Mrs. Lou Dowell and Miss J. McCall.

Church Services

Church services will be held at the Community church Sunday, Feb. 22nd at 4 p. m. Mr. L. Lutey will have charge of the service. The adult Sunday school will be at 4:00 p. m. Sunday. All adults are invited to attend.

Mass at Holy Rosary Catholic church will be at 11:30 a. m.

Briefs

Window Runs Like Venetian Blinds

Columbia, S. C. (AP)—A 69-year old cabinet maker has patented a Venetian Blind type window which he claims will allow controlled ventilation and remote controlled operation, but will cost less than the conventional window now in use with steel frames.

Daniel Irving Hite, a house trailer repairer, who holds the patent, says his window has seven glass panels that lock and operate like a Venetian Blind.

The panels can be rotated inwardly through an angle of more than 90-degrees. Opening and closing is done with a crank or lever.

HELPED BUILD DELTA ROADS—This Bichler Brothers stone crusher at Groos produced material that helped construct and maintain hundreds of miles of highways in the Delta county area. Part of the quarry is shown in the foreground. The crusher building is soon to be razed.

Veterans Training For Fun To Be Cut

Washington, (AP)—The administration called for a $200,000,000 (M) cut in GI training-for-fun.

The Budget Bureau asked Congress to rewrite the so-called GI bill of rights to let the government weed out hobby-seeking veterans.

A report to the lawmakers pointed critically to courses in such things as flying, dancing, music, photography and horsemanship training by mail.

The GI bill allows veterans to go to school or take special training at federal expense. Some 4,500,000 have taken advantage of the measure.

President Truman first called for a restudy of the law in his budget message to Congress last month.

Today's budget bureau report was sent to Chairman Rogers (R-Mass.) of the House Veterans Affairs committee.

Among "certain weaknesses and deficiencies" in the veteran training program, it listed these:

1. More than 90 per cent of all GI flight training "serves no occupational purpose" and has "no appreciable value" for national defense, although it costs $257,000,000 (M) a year for the 118,400 enrolled.

2. Schools offering social and ballroom dancing to the "several thousand" veterans enrolled at a cost of more than $400 each "have frankly stressed" in many instances "the recreational or social aspects." An advertisement was cited. It offered "in a few magic hours" to make veterans "the darling of the stagline."

3. A survey of photography training courses shows them of "little or no value for truly vocational purposes." In one city where job opportunities in the field were "virtually non-existent," 280 veterans crowded available courses.

The report acknowledged that courses in flight training, dancing and the like "are worthwhile if pursued by students who have a reasonable chance of qualifying for vocations related to them."

It added, however, that "in fairness to the veterans," some way to separate recreational training from "genuinely vocational" training is necessary.

The budget bureau recommended however that no changes apply to veterans already enrolled.

Q Several months ago I reinstated my National Service Life Insurance, but still haven't received my policy. Shouldn't I receive one?

A The Veterans Administration actually has not written any NSLI policies. However, the Veterans Administration will send a certificate of insurance, on written request of the insured. Some of the branch offices of the Veterans Administration are so understaffed and overworked that at present they are unable to distribute the insurance certificates.

Q How much material has been sent to Greece since the end of the war?

A More than a billion dollars worth of goods, from national and international sources. Some of this still is available on docks and in warehouses in Greece.

Q What are the principal radio networks in the U. S.?

A American Broadcasting Co. (ABC), Columbia Broadcasting System (CBS), Continental Network (WASH-FM), Mutual Broadcasting System (MBS), National Broadcasting Co. (NBC), and The Yankee Network.

North Western To Spend $45,890,000 On '48 Improvements

Authorization for the purchase of 39 diesel locomotive units of various types and 2,350 freight cars, supplementing substantial freight and passenger equipment now on order, is provided in the $123,500,000 maintenance and improvement budget of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway System for 1948.

This program was announced today by R. L. Williams, president of the railway system, who said the system budget for capital improvements and acquisition of new equipment is $45,890,000, of which amount $10,240,000 represents additions and betterments to roadways and fixed property, $2,810,000 for improvements to existing rolling stock, and $32,840,000 as the cost of new equipment now on order or authorized to be placed on order.

"Authorization has been obtained for the purchase of eighteen diesel switching locomotives, fifteen 1,500-horsepower diesel freight locomotive units, six 2,000-horsepower diesel passenger locomotives and 2,350 freight cars," said Mr. Williams. "In addition, we have on order nineteen diesel switching locomotives, one 1,000-horsepower diesel passenger locomotive 1,400 freight cars and fifty-two streamlined passenger train cars of various types. Provision also is included in the budget for rebuilding 500 steel hopper cars at the railway's Winona, Minnesota, shops at a cost of $1,660,000. A similar car rebuilding program was conducted at Winona in 1947."

Among major budgeted items is the construction of a diesel locomotive service and repair shop at Proviso, Illinois, at a cost of $642,000; the completion of construction of a $1,860,000 modern diesel locomotive service and repair shop in Chicago, and the completion of a $1,940,000 centralized traffic control project between West Chicago and Nelson, Illinois. Construction on the latter two projects was started in 1947.

Among other major projects included in the budget are the installation of more than 130 miles of 115-pound rail and 222 miles of out-of-face ballasting in high speed territory, as well as a variety of improvements to roadway, structures and equipment to provide improved service, promote safety and increase efficiency.

These include the purchase of additional modern shop machinery, track drainage, additional and improved station facilities, signal system improvements and other safety and protective devices and additional yard and other tracks. The use of oscillating safety lights, the development of which was pioneered on the North Western, will also be extended with their installation on additional trains, including those in suburban service.

At the Sunday service February 29, when Bishop Sherrill's ten-minute address ends, the rector of St. Stephen's the Rev. James E. Ward will tell his people how they may have a part in this program of aid for the distressed, through the Presiding Bishop's Fund. Then the opportunity will be given for both immediate gifts and short-time pledges. At national church headquarters in New York City it was stated recently that "Our 1,600,000 people can raise $1,000,000 for the Presiding Bishop's Fund for World Relief IN ONE DAY if each parish and mission will do its share."

The Rt. Rev. Henry Knox Sherrill, presiding Bishop of the Episcopal Church, who is asking for Episcopal Church members to give a million dollars in 1948 for the relief of needy peoples in war-devastated countries of Europe and Asia. The Church raised a million dollars for this purpose in 1947, and will attempt to give a similar amount in 1948 and a third million in 1949. Relief is given through Church World Service in Europe and the National Christian Councils in the Oriental countries.

On Sunday February 29, substantially every member of the Episcopal Church will hear the voice of their Presiding Bishop, the Rt. Rev. Henry Knox Sherrill, by means of a new and extraordinary use of radio. In St. Stephen's the congregation will sit in their pews and at exactly 11:32½ a. m., the Presiding Bishop's voice will be heard, telling of the needs of war-devastated countries in Europe and Asia, and urging Episcopal Church members everywhere to accept their plain duty and privilege of helping these suffering millions. The same scene and the same message will be repeated in thousands of Episcopal churches all over the country, at exactly the same time.

The Episcopal Church gave more than a million dollars in 1947 through its Presiding Bishop's Fund for World Relief, and it intends to raise the same amount or more in 1948. The entirely new use of radio opens what is expected to be a very brief and highly successful campaign.

Lansing Political Tradition Upset By Attorney General

Lansing (AP)—Attorney General Eugene F. Black has "embarrassed" Secretary of State Fred M. Alger Jr. by upsetting an old political tradition.

Alger said Black had ruled that neither of them legally could approve the form of nominating, initiatory, referendum and constitutional petitions. For many years these have been submitted to the Secretary of State before circulation to be certain they were in proper form.

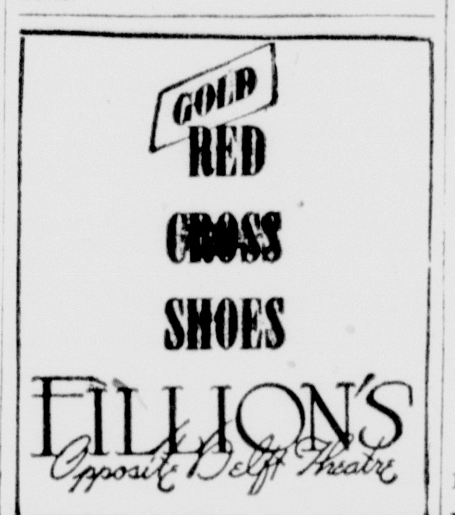

Black, Alger said, holds that the State Board of Canvassers must pass on the legal form of petitions after they have been circulated and filed with signatures.

"Then, of course, it will be too late to do anything about it," Alger said.

The issue arose over initiatory petitions submitted by the Michigan Townsend clubs to amend the Old Age Assistance Laws, but Alger said nominating petitions filed by Cong. George A. Dondero and U. S. Senator Homer Ferguson were caught in the net, as well as the Michigan Education Association's two proposals to change the 15-mill tax limitation.

Alger said Black had advised the Townsend clubs be told to "engage the services of an attorney as all private citizens must do."

He said that as a matter of courtesy he probably would advise candidates informally whether his election division considered their petitions properly drawn, but that he could not take the responsibility of passing on the legal aspects of the more complicated initiatory, referendum and constitutional amendment petitions.

111 Cedar StreetManistique Ice Show
To Be Held At Quarry
Rink Sunday Afternoon

The Manistique Ice Show, which will feature figure skating acts and skating races for all ages, will be held Sunday afternoon at the rink near the quarry, opening at 2:30.

Five skating races will be held for the various age groups, 8 to 10, 10 to 12, 12 to 14, 14 to 16, and 16 years and over. Entrants have been coming in rapidly and it is expected that many children of the city will participate. Between races five figure acts will be presented, with the following persons taking part: Katherine Green, Shirley Monette, Joanne Minor, Dorothy Selling, Sandra White, Donna Popour, Patsy Popour, Anne Sheahan, Marjane Creger, Margaret Quick, Margaret Mueller, Joanne Norberg, Shirley Burns, Lenore Bassett, Kay Boals, Irene Krusic, Shirley Demars, Howard Strasser, Hugo Schubert, Gail Lundstrom, Gail Dupont and Sally Stewart. Following the acts and races there will be a demonstration by the figure skaters to compete for the trophy in that classification. Awards will be given in both figure skating and the races.

It is pointed out by the Manistique Skating club, sponsors of the ice show, that this is the first season that an effort has been made to develop figure skating. Training was hampered during the month of January by too severe weather conditions, and has been in progress for only a short time under the direction of the skating instructors Renold Anderson and Earl LaBrasseur. Many of the acts and figure stunts have been devised by the children themselves, and they have spent considerable time in perfecting their ice tricks. The show was planned originally by the local skating club to give parents an opportunity to see what can be accomplished by the youngsters, with a little help, and stimulate interest in skating in the city. A show of professional calibre is not anticipated.

In the event of thawing weather, it is announced that the revue will take place next Tuesday evening, and in that event, announcement of the change of time will be made.

BY JAY ARRELL

A certain Manistique housewife tells this one on herself. It amuses her now, but at the time it happened she was "mad enough to get a shotgun and do something about it."

She had just baked a batch of bread and, because her husband was unable to eat it, she had set a pan of biscuits out on the back porch to cool.

A short time later she chanced to look out of the kitchen window and was aghast to see that pan a squirming, fluttering, chattering, fighting mass of feathered life. "Oh, but was I mad," she said. "And then when I saw that all that was left was the bottom crusts, I couldn't help but laugh. I threw the biscuits out and took the pan back into the house. George had to eat hot bread that evening and like it."

Sparrows, it seems, have staged a comeback. Not in many years have they been as numerous in town as they have been during the recent cold snap. And strangely enough, many people who dislike them, now seem to regard them with real affection. The way those little rascals seem to make the most of adverse conditions has an appeal.

And many of these people who have found enjoyment in watching the birds feast upon the scraps of food they have provided have found the study of these birds extremely interesting. Sparrows, although gregarious in their habits, are rugged individualists. Every sparrow has some characteristic that sets it apart from its companions. This is particularly true of cock sparrows whose fighting instinct causes them to be marked with some wing or tail feathers awry or scarred about the head or claws and some by their very dispositions stand out in the crowd—correctly speaking, out in the flock. Then, on the other hand there are Biddy sparrows as tidy and nice mannered as well behaved little girls.

While no determining checkup is possible, it may readily be assumed that the multitudes of sparrows seen here at present, will not remain here the year around. Large numbers of them live at the city dump and others in weed grown areas along the river. Heavy snows have covered up their food supply and shelter and they naturally come to town where conditions are more favorable.

The roof of the Daily Press office offers a better than average feeding ground for these birds.

PUBLIC OFFICES
CLOSE MONDAYCity Council Will Hold
Regular Meeting
Tuesday

Washington's birthday falling on Sunday, the legal holiday that it occasions falls on Monday and the city hall and court house will be closed on that day. Banks will also be closed and the postal service will be limited to distribution of mail to lock box patrons. There will be no carrier service and regular carriers will not make their regular trips. The lobby will be closed at one o'clock.

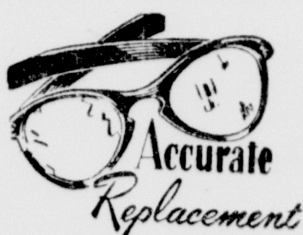

While schools will remain in session as usual, there will be programs honoring the "Father of our country" in both parochial and public schools.

The Masonic lodge, whose observance of Washington's birthday has become a tradition, will hold a banquet at 6:30 Saturday evening. This will be followed by a program in which there will be an address by Ernest Pearce, of Marquette, a 33 degree Mason, who will use Washington as his theme for discussion. Other numbers will be a reading by Mrs. Alex Robertson, and a violin trio made up of Carl Olson, Norman Martin and the Rev. Paul Sobel. They will be accompanied by Mrs. James Fyvie.

Food may be thrown to them from one of the upstairs windows of the house at the rear of the office and the birds may also be watched from this vantage point.

Sparrows are not the only visitors. Sea gulls often land on the roof and slide suspiciously up to the offerings before scooping them up and flying away. In other years there have been frequent visitations from evening grosbeaks but there have been none this year. Bluejays have also been conspicuous by their absence but starlings, though not numerous, are common enough.

Once, when we had thrown out some cornmeal for the sparrows a startling plumped into the meal. But it soon found itself at a decided disadvantage. Its long, sharply pointed beak and its stately ways was no match for the fast maneuvering, sparrow. Finally it laid the side of its head flat on the ground, opened its beak as wide as it could and then scooped in a mawful. Seeing how well this scheme worked, it put the run on the sparrows and then finished its feast in satisfying, if not dignified, leisure.

MIGHTY THEN--MIGHTY NOW

"Washington's is the mightiest name of earth—long since mightiest in the cause of civil liberty; still mightiest in moral reformation. On that name no eulogy is expected. It cannot be. To add brightness to the sun or glory to the name of Washington is alike impossible. Let none attempt it. In solemn awe we pronounce the name and in its naked deathless splendor leave it shining on."

WILL DEDICATE CHURCH ORGAN

Will Serve As Memorial To Former Members Of Congregation

Dedication of the new two manual pipe organ, which was recently installed, will be made at the Zion Lutheran church with appropriate services next Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

The Rev. T. E. Johnstone, of Ironwood, president of the Superior Conference of the Augustana Lutheran Synod, will preach the dedicatory sermon.

The organ was presented to the church through a bequest left by the late Miss Lillie A. Carlson who stipulated that it be installed in the church as a memorial to her parents, the late John O. and Anna Carlson, for many years, members of the Zion Lutheran congregation.

Following is the order of the services for that time:
Organ Prelude, Mrs. Harry Ahlstrom, Organist
Introit, "The Lord Is In His Holy Temple"
Hymn, "Christ the Life"
Opening service at the altar
Hymn "Merciful Savior"

Legion Auxiliary

A regular meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary, Unit #3, was held Thursday evening in the Legion hall. Initiation was held, and a large class of candidates were initiated at an impressive ceremony. Mrs. Grace McLaughlin acted as initiating officer. Each candidate was presented with an American flag and a poppy. During the program Mrs. Nellie Ott sang "Lilac Time," accompanied by Mrs. Mary Arrowood. Mrs. Agnes Kristofferson gave a tongue twister, and Mrs. Gladys Mercier gave a reading on Washington and Lincoln. It was voted at this meeting that the balance of the $500 pledge to the hospital fund be paid. It was also decided to hold a rummage sale, the first week of April. Five hundred was played later with prizes going to Lalla Martin, high, and Grace Collier, second. In other games Bernetta Bouchard, received high, and Ethel Burns, second. A delicious lunch was served later by hostesses: Grace McLaughlin, Loretta Ramsden Nellie Ott, and decorated with red, white, and blue streamers, matching tapers, and red roses. The next meeting will be held March 4 with the following as hostesses: M. Arrowood, M. Cool, B. Johnson, and I. Johnson.

Catherine's Party

Catherine Evonich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Evonich, celebrated her seventh birthday anniversary on Thursday afternoon at her home on Arbutus avenue. The afternoon was spent in playing games and prizes were awarded. A delicious lunch was served later from a table which was centered with a large decorated birthday cake. Catherine received many nice gifts from the following friends: Wally and Esther Popour, Harriet LaFolite, Joan and Sally Creighton, Louise and Robert Berger, Mary Agnes Gorsche, Marlene Pizzala, Judy Mullen, Parren Miller, Robert and Irvin Lambert, Clifford Lambert, Steven Anderson, Karen Buelow, Caroline Hubbard, Patsy, Raymond and Billy DeRousha, Hiram Peterson, Mary Jane MacLean, Jean and Dick Robertson, Gordon Vertz, Bobby Swanson, Ervin Bremer, Melvin Riley, Sue Ann Emmernan, Chuck Kerridge, and Charles Babcock.

Emerson Archey, 19 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Archey, of Germfask, left Wednesday for Fort Sheridan, Ill., where he will enter army service.

The prize is an account of how she as a girl in Manistique, felt an uncontrollable urge to go to Detroit to make her home. At the very same time, her future husband, a resident of a small town in North Dakota felt the same urge. Their paths merged a few days after their arrival in that city and their marriage followed. This romance, well told, earned the $100 prize.

FIRE DAMAGES PELKEY HOME

Overheated Furnace Is Believed Cause Of Blaze

Fire, believed to have been caused by an overheated furnace, caused considerable damage to the home of Ralph Pelkey at 1203 Delta avenue yesterday morning.

Two hoses were laid to quell the stubborn blaze and firemen were on the job from 9:40 to about 11:10 a. m.

In addition to the loss caused by fire there was considerable damage from water and smoke.

The loss was said to be covered by insurance.

Pennies Buy Cruiser For Salvation Navy

Salvation "Navy" flagship: Sunday school pennies bought it.

By NEA Service
Angeon, Alaska, (NEA)—The Salvation Army's gone to sea. Its "navy" consists of a canoe in Australia, a barge in the Seine at Paris, the trim little seagoing cruiser, "Salvo," in the South Pacific, the "Phoebe" plying the canals in Holland and the "Catherine Booth," a familiar sight in Norway's fjords.

But pride of the fleet is here—the "William Booth," a 64-foot twin-screw diesel cabin cruiser with stove, stainless steel sinks, an electric refrigerator system, a deep freeze unit, showers and lavatories and a five-channel ship-to-shore radio-telephone.

The radio-telephone is one of the most important parts of the ship because it will be doing rescue work along distant Alaskan waterways.

It has taken two years and thousands of pennies—$30,000 worth—from Sunday school children to get the Salvation Army's Alaskan "fleet" in operation.

Brigadier Chester Taylor, Salvationist commander in Juneau, decided in 1946 that the Army's work here was hampered because it couldn't reach isolated villages. He asked for a boat which would cost $20,000 to build.

Sunday school students in the U. S. and Alaska banded together to pay for various parts of the boat—some the keel, others the cabin, the radio, the planking, the chapel, etc.

But as the funds grew, so did the costs. Then the Taku—built for a multi-millionaire—was offered to the Army for $30,000, a price reduced from its real value "as a mark of interest in the Army's work."

It could carry 30 passengers on short trips and accommodate 20 overnight. The Army finally raised enough to buy it.

Patrick Paul of Angeon, an expert marine navigator-engineer and a Salvationist, is skipper of the now renamed "William Booth" and the queen of the fleet is on its first Alaskan mission.

Escanaba Tips Manistique; Marquette Spanks Gladstone Braves

St. Joe, Bark River Tangle Tonight; Hawks, Newberry Clash Sunday

EMERALD FIVE BOWS, 43-34

Abrahamson, Gustafson
Lead Eskymos In Scoring

Escanaba's smooth floor game and efficient passing attack was too much for Manistique as the Eskymos registered a 43-34 triumph before a large crowd in the junior high school gym last night. The Emeralds fought back hard in the last half but could not overcome a 14-point edge built up by the Eskymos in the opening half.

Twice during the third quarter, Escanaba had a 17-point margin and appeared to be well on the way to posting a decidedly one-sided victory, but each time Don Carlson and Everett Patz sparked Manistique drives that kept the Emeralds within range.

Four times during the last quarter, the visitors whittled Escanaba's lead to nine points, once at 32-23, again at 35-26 and 39-29 and the final score of 43-34, but they couldn't come any closer than that.

Start Out Fast
Carlson, Manistique sharpshooter, proved himself to be a two-handed twisting shot expert. He dropped five of them and added four charity tosses to take high scoring honors with 14 points. Once, he swooped up a loose ball, went into the air, twisted and dropped a swisher in one continuous motion.

With the exception of Carlson, Patz and little Johnny Hockstetter, however, the Emeralds took too many hurried, "hope" shots. By contrast, the Eskymos worked the ball in for shots that had at least a 50-50 chance of going in. The Eskymos started out like a house afire. When the score was 8-1 at the outset, the home five hadn't missed a shot. Warren Gustafson, Ray Hirm and Gary Abrahamson had each shot once at the basket and made it, and "Abe" and "Moose" had each shot once from the free throw line and made it.

Things leveled off fast after that, however, as the Emeralds pulled up to within 9-6 at the quarter.

With Dick Lough suited up but sidelined throughout the game with a mouth injury, Coach Jim Rouman's most effective combination last night was Gustafson at center, Ron Johnson and Hirm at forwards and Jim Deane and Abrahamson bringing the ball up. On defense, the Eskymos took advantage of what height they have by working Gustafson, Johnson and Hirm on rebounds.

Abrahamson Stars
The Eskymos did most of their damage in the second quarter when they piled up 14 points to take a 14-point edge over the Emeralds at the half. Gustafson rang up two lay-up shots. Deane contributed a long field goal and two gratts heaves and Johnson and Hirm each collected a field goal and free toss to compile the 14 points.

But it was Abrahamson who sparked the Eskymos in the last half when the Emeralds were threatening. The little fellow with the deadly one-handed push shot was a threat anywhere near the basket. He topped the Eskymos scorers with 10 points, garnered on three field goals and four out of five free throws. Big Gus was just a shade behind, tallying nine counter on four field goals and one charity toss.

Hirm played one of his best games of the year. He scored seven points but his principal effectiveness was as a feeder on quick pass-back plays and on defense.

In the preliminary game, the Manistique reserves defeated the Eskanaba ninth graders, 32-18.

Norden Leads Rock To 47-39 Triumph Over Harris Five

Bark River, Feb. 21—Jim and Vernon Good chunked in 29 points between them last night but Norden's 22 points for Rock was a bit too much to overcome as Rock posted a 47-39 triumph over Bark River-Harris in a Central U. P. D-E Basketball league game.

Just when Harris managed to step out in front, Norden came through with a couple of swishers to put Rock ahead. Rock held a 16-14 margin at halftime and stretched it to 31-22 in the third quarter. Harris fought back hard in the finale, outscoring Rock, 17-16, but there was Mr. Norden again with his dependable swishers.

In the preliminary, Rock junior high tipped Harris junior high, 24-17.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
New York, Feb. 21 (AP)—The Yankees and Dodgers won the major league pennants last year, but the 1948 Red and Green books indicate that they don't intend to stand pat.

The Yankees have 16 "rookies" on their list of 41 players for spring training (counting some who were with the club part of last season.) The Dodgers have 13 freshmen, most of whom had tryouts in 1947. Top clubs in the rookie department are the Browns and Cubs with 23 each while the Phillies and Pirates are pushing them hard with 20 apiece. Speaking of rookies, Pitcher Robert Lee Hansen, who'll try out with the Giants' Jersey City farm, pitched seven no-hit games during two years of high school ball at Harriman, N. Y. He didn't add any to his list with the Erie, Pa., Mid-Atlantic league club last season.

Dockers' Orders
Not long before the basketball season, Tommy Tolon of St. John's was limping around on crutches as the result of an old service injury. Finally he consented to an operation by Dr. Robert Preston and was able to get into action with a big brace on his leg. The Doc says the effects of the brace are more mental than physical. Just before St. John's played Niagara the other night, a friend told Tolon: "You'd better have a good night. Doc Preston is watching you play for the first time." Tommy, who usually isn't a high scorer, led the team with 14 points and played a whole of a game.

Sports Before Your Eyes
The Norfolk Sports Club is polling golf writers on their choice of pros who play each type of shot best in order to pick teams for a unique event at Virginia Beach in which player will play only his "specialty" shots.

Second Generation
Three of the Athletes who'll compete in the intercollegiate A.A.A. indoor meet next week are sons of former Olympic champions. Fred Toetell, Rhode Island State coach, and Olympic hammer throw winner in 1924, will watch his son, Geoffrey, put the shot for Harvard. Tom Foss, Cornell pole vaulter, is the son of Frank, who won the same event at the 1920 Olympics and J. Rodney Meredith, Yale quarter miler, is the son of Ted, 1912 Olympic 800 meters champ.

Escanaba vs. Gladstone And Harris vs. Rock In Reserve Finals Tonight

Stephenson, Feb. 21—It will be Escanaba vs. Gladstone for the B-C championship and Bark River-Harris vs. Rock for the D-E title in the annual Stephenson high school reserve basketball tournament tonight.

The week-long tourney will be concluded tonight with Harris and Rock reserves squaring off at 7:15, and the Escanaba and Gladstone junior varsity crews clashing at 8:30.

Rock won its final berth with a 27-13 triumph over Perkins Bees Thursday night and Harris automatically moved into the finals when its scheduled semifinal opponent, Rapid River, was disqualified for playing Cools.

Nystrom Sets Pace With 20 Points; Gillis Collects 10

Gladstone, Feb. 21—Paced by lanky Wayne Nystrom, who scored of Marquette easily defeated the Gladstone Braves, 45-26, here last night.

Marquette grabbed an 8-2 first-quarter lead, 22-13 halftime margin and was outscored by Gladstone, 9-6, in the third session but a bangup 17-point rally in the finale put the game on ice for the visiting Reds. Gladstone was trailing only 28-22 going into the last quarter.

Nystrom sparked the Marquette onslaught in the last period, with plenty of help from Guard Aartila, who tallied 12 points for the night. Cliff Gillis, Gladstone's able captain and center, rang up 10 points.

Hermansville Boys Tip Powers, 59-29

Hermansville, Feb. 21—The Hermansville high school basketball team kept its record clean in the Central U. P. D-E Basketball league here last night by defeating Powers, 59-29.

Guard Furlick emerged from two weeks in bed to set a fast pace for Hermansville by sparking a first-quarter drive that netted 18 points to eight for Powers. Of Hermansville's first 11 points, Furlick made seven.

Allen topped the scorers with 18 points. Furlick collected 15. In the preliminary, Hermansville's reserves defeated Powers Bees.

Detroit Lions Talk To Mann and Ford

Detroit, Feb. 21 (AP)—Their coaching problem solved with the signing of Alvin N. (Bo) McMillin, the Detroit Lions of the National Football League today moved into the business of catching up in the scramble for playing talent.

In a move that president Lyle Fife said had McMillin's blessing, the Lions called in Michigan's two brilliant Negro ends, Leonard Ford and Bob Mann, for a conference yesterday but no papers were signed.

Ford, husky 6-foot 5-inch defensive powerhouse from Washington, D.C., and Mann, stellar New Bern, N.C., pass grabber of the Wolverines' unbeaten Rose Bowl champions of last season, listened to the offers and headed back to Ann Arbor to discuss them with their college coach, H. O. (Fritz) Crisler.

Tuesday night after defeating Carney, 57-19, in the first round Monday. It is against MHSAA regulations for a team entered in a tourney to play any other games except tourney games while the tournament is in progress.

Coach Steve Baltie's Escanaba Bees moved into the finals with a 29-20 victory over Stephenson, and Coach Norman Peterson's fast Gladstone juniors—tournament favorites—advanced to the finals with a 30-29 victory over the Menominee Marion jayvees.

No tournament games were played last night, when Stephenson high school played the Manistique Lourdes.

Pete Dube To Skate Exhibition Prior To League Hockey Battle

If hockey talk along Ludington street in Escanaba is any indication, the largest crowd of the season will be on hand at the fairgrounds indoor rink Sunday afternoon to the Escanaba Hawks battle the Newberry Paul Bunyans in an Upper Michigan Amateur Hockey league game.

With every game, the Hawks have been winning new fans, and last Tuesday night's battle royal with the Marquette Rockets certainly was no exception. Escanaba won that melee, 12-2, but only after 60 minutes of as fast and rough action as has been seen at the indoor rink all season. The game was unusually fast for soft ice.

Now that the weatherman is co-operating with the hockey club again, the Sunday contest with Newberry looms as a bangup game on fast ice, a game that should warm the hearts of every hockey fan and of those who will be out to see their first game.

It will mark the first league home game for the Hawks since Sunday, January 18, when they came within a hair of upsetting the league-leading Marquette Loans. They had a 2-1 lead going into the third period but lost out, 3-2.

As an added attraction tomorrow afternoon on the occasion of "Pete Dube Day," the veteran Escanaba speed skater, Peter C. Dube, jr., will race two miles against three speedy opponents, two of whom will go a half mile each with the third traveling the remaining distance against the speed skating stamina king, Dube, who will go the full route.

Dube and his opponents, Carl and Fred Lueneberg and Wallace Kemmer, will take off at 2 p. m. The opening faceoff, with the Hawks and Bunyans squaring off, will be at 2:30 p. m.

Fred Haas Against New Orleans Field

New Orleans, Feb. 21 (AP)—It was a hometown lad against the field today in the third round of the $10,000 New Orleans Open golf tournament.

Five strokes separated Fred Haas, jr., who was playing his home course, from his closest competitors for the $2,000 first prize money.

Haas, tied for the lead with 67 after Thursday's opening round, duplicated the score yesterday to pull ahead with 134 for the 36 holes. Par for 18 is 71.

Red Wings Start Important Duel With Maple Leafs

Toronto, Feb. 21 (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings, with a shortage of defencemen, step into an important duel with the Toronto Maple Leafs tonight for the National Hockey league leadership, but the Red Wings won't be deprived of all their claim to first place.

Detroit, with defenseman Doug McCaig still on the shelf with a broken leg and Leo Reise out with a painful skate cut, leads the league by a full game going into the important test with the Leafs. A Toronto victory would put them in a tie, although the Maple Leafs have played one less game.

With McCaig and Reise out of action, the Wings had only three full-time defencemen available and planned to use center Sid Abel on the back line against the Leafs.

Detroit needs a victory to level its season series with Toronto, which has won three times, lost two games to the Red Wings and tied them four times.

Fred Haas Against New Orleans Field

New Orleans, Feb. 21 (AP)—It was a hometown lad against the field today in the third round of the $10,000 New Orleans Open golf tournament.

Five strokes separated Fred Haas, jr., who was playing his home course, from his closest competitors for the $2,000 first prize money.

Haas, tied for the lead with 67 after Thursday's opening round, duplicated the score yesterday to pull ahead with 134 for the 36 holes. Par for 18 is 71.

Young Edges Jack By Only One Point

New York, Feb. 21 (AP)—The Beau Jack comeback is stalled. All because of a tough east side New Yorker named Terry Young and a lone point on the scorecard of referee Frank Fullam.

The fight fans favorite comment, "it could have been a draw," was appropriate last night. Even the officials were split, to say nothing of the crowd of 14,92

TRIO HELD FOR CIRCUIT COURT

Woman, Two Men Bound Over On Various Charges

Three persons arraigned in justice court Friday on different charges were bound over to circuit court, each on $1,000 bond. All were committed to the county jail when they failed to provide bond.

Henry Hallfrisch, 26, Escanaba, waived examination on a charge of arson, the result of two fires that Hallfrisch has confessed setting at 804 Ludington street.

Milton Carlson waived examination on a charge of forgery. He is accused of forging the signature of James Degnan to a check in the amount of $32.50 cashed at the J. C. Penny company store in Escanaba.

Mrs. Phyllis Lemerand, Ford River, was bound over to circuit court following a preliminary examination on a charge of desertion and abandonment of four minor children. Police also are seeking her husband, Willard, who is reported to be residing in Milwaukee. Mrs. Lemerand was arrested in Milwaukee recently.

Flood Crest Rises At Greenwood, Miss.; Town Believed Safe

Greenwood, Miss., Feb. 21 (AP)—Crest of the Yazoo river flood will reach Greenwood sometime today but Army engineers say there is no danger to the town.

"The levees should hold with 24-hour work," Engineer Capt. K. E. McLaughlin said last night.

McLaughlin said the expected 40-foot crest at Greenwood, that would be only one-tenth of a foot under the record of 40.1 feet set in 1946. Flood stage is 35 feet.

The general date flood is "flattening out," however, and the engineer said he expected no more trouble after today.

High waters so far have inundated more than 400,000 acres of cotton and timberland but, with planting season a month off, growers see little if any damage to their plantations.

Senator Vandenberg Called Best Bet To Unite Republicans

East Orange, N. J., Feb. 21 (AP)—U. S. Sen. Wayne A. Morse (Ore.) says Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R-Mich.) would be the "best presidential candidate to unite the Republican party and lead it to victory" this year.

"Vandenberg is the most desirable dark horse we have," Morse told an American brotherhood meeting last night.

The Republicans can "beat the Democrats only if we come forward with a middle-of-the-road progressive program which will convince the voters that their best interests are to be found in the election of a Republican candidate whose philosophy is identical with a progressive Republican platform," he added.

Half-Dollar Radio Station Developed

Washington—Latest version of the business tycoon who started "on a shoestring" may be the radio station owner of the future who starts on a half dollar. The "half-dollar radio station" was demonstrated to the local section of the Institute of Radio Engineers by Dr. Cleo Brunetti, engineer at the National Bureau of Standards.

Dr. Brunetti is the man who carries a whole "network" of radio broadcasting transmitters around in his pockets. He built a radio transmitter which fits conveniently in an empty lipstick container. His "calling card radio" is on a thin plastic card the size of a calling card. And the half-dollar broadcasting unit is on a square which would barely cover a 50-cent piece.

The thin plastic square measures one and one-quarter inches each way. Flat painted lines form the circuits inside of the wires which are in your radio. Tiny tubes are soldered to the flat surface. Small batteries such as are used in hearing aids supply the power for the miniature station.

But the engineer is even more proud of one of his larger models, a vest-pocket transmitter and receiver which is a duplicate of one Dr. Brunetti presented to President Truman.

Mink and Fox Pelt Sale Is Scheduled

Milwaukee, Wis.—A total of 34,000 mink and silver fox skins, 7,000 muskrats, 7,500 raccoons and smaller quantities of marten, skunk, spotted skunk, weasel, cross and red fox and rabbit will be placed on sale here at the American National Cooperative Fur Auction Feb. 24 to 26.

The sale will be the third of the season.

Included in the 14,000 silver fox collection will be 2,000 glamorous platinum and 1,500 white face silvers. The 20,000 mink collection will include standard darks, half bloods and wild skins.

"We are expecting a good attendance of New York, Chicago, Milwaukee and other buyers at this sale," said Dr. L. J. O'Reilly, president of the American National Fur Breeders Association, "for the quantities of silver fox and mink and the largest the auction has offered so far this season."

"Mutation minks," he said, "will be offered in the April sale."

BEER-DRINKERS BLINKED—Residents of Elgin, Ill., cast suspicious eyes at local brewery yesterday when the Fox River started flowing through town with a head on it (shown above). After a few sniffs and a quick look at the Kimball street dam, members of the beer-drinking set found the cause of the phenomenon. Cold water pouring over the dam during an exceptionally mild and spring-like day plunged back into cold water at the dam's base. The result was a head of foam that, in some places, reached a height of 15 feet. (NEA Telephoto)

Library Adventure

By Arnold Mulder

It is just one hundred years ago that "Jane Eyre" was published. In the course of 1948, it may be expected, most of the literature magazines in England and America will call attention to the centenary. This little article may be in the vanguard of a long procession.

Today, of course, all literate people know about "Jane Eyre" and its author Charlotte Brontë. In 1848, almost no one knew about it or her. The author's own father, a clergyman at Haworth, England, did not know that his daughter had written a novel until the proofs of the book arrived while she was nursing him in a hospital to which he had been confined for threatened blindness.

NEW MICHIGAN GROUP WORKS FOR WALLACE

Today's meeting, Saylor emphasized, is a "conference" and not a "convention."

Full Ticket Considered
"This meeting is open to anyone," he said. "Later in the year, we will have a regular convention with elected delegates."

"No one knows yet whether we will have a full ticket on the ballot," he explained. "Our supporters in each congressional and legislative district will decide for themselves whether they want to put forward a Wallace candidate. We will decide later whether to have a state ticket. But we will have Wallace's name on the Michigan ballot."

Emphasis, speakers said, will be on a "grass roots" campaign organization in every community and precinct.

The party leaders have set up headquarters in a three room suite in Detroit with Saylor and two stenographers on the payroll. They are pumping out literature, speakers and Wallace names.

Any man to call their party the "Progressive party."

Saylor is a former director of radio for the UAW-CIO, former employee of the Federal Communications commission and former investigator of the Senate civil liberties committee.

Peninsula Represented
The 5-man steering committee which got the conference under way included such names as Mrs. Annabelle McLaughlin of Birmingham, a sister of Henry Wallace, her two sons—students at Wayne university and Michigan State college; Ernest Goodman, Detroit attorney prominent in the Lawyers' Guild; State Senator Stanley Novak, veteran Detroit Democrat; Ray A. Blett of Grand Rapids; Max Dean of Ann Arbor; Michael C. Fields, Grand Rapids businessman.

Mrs. Beatrice Fleming Fleets, prominent Negro Republican worker in Detroit; Mort Furay, international vice president of the United Public Workers-CIO; the Rev. Charles A. Hill, Detroit Negro pastor; Walter J. Mahne, of Pullman, Michigan Farmers' Union official; R. F. Kennedy of Pontiac; Ralph Horton, Flint union leader; Florence Kneip, of the Traverse City Business and Professional Women's club; Anton Raykovich and James de Mulling of Ironwood; and Wheeler J. Witting and Alfred Gasboro of Iron Mountain.

Saylor said delegates today came from every congressional district and at least 50 counties. He also claimed Wallace meetings already have been held in Detroit, Pontiac, Flint, Ann Arbor, Bay City, Iron Mountain, Benton Harbor, Ironwood, Battle Creek, Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo, Muskegon and other cities.

William S. Gailmor, New York radio commentator and member of the national Wallace committee, was to be the keynote today.

Saylor said Lee Pressman, former general counsel of the CIO ousted by President Philip Murray, would attend and speak if he could make it.

The chairman was to be Clark H. Bousman of the Western Michigan College of education faculty.

CITRUS FRUIT PRICES DOWN

It's Only Food Item Selling Below Pre-war Figure

BY ROGER W. BABSON

Babson Park, Fla.—I am sorry to see my citrus friends here in Florida feeling so low. After several prosperous years, grapefruit are now selling at twenty cents a box, and the oranges are selling at forty cents. No grower can raise fruit for these prices.

During the war the Government took about one-half the crop. This was dehydrated to one-seventh its normal bulk and sent in large cases to our soldiers in Europe. When the war stopped, the Government suddenly stopped buying which resulted in the citrus people losing one-half of their customers all at one blow.

People up North are not buying as much citrus as they were. With the high price of steaks, fish, and vegetables, people are economizing on other food items. In addition to consumers buying less, many more trees have been set out during the last few years which has increased production. Citrus is unlike a tomato crop or any other annual crop which can be cut off at any time. It takes seven years before a tree begins to bear, and then it bears almost forever.

Health Value Of Citrus Fruits

I have no citrus fruit to sell, but I can honestly tell readers that citrus fruits should be eaten by all people who wish to keep well. A No. 2 can of grapefruit or orange juice has about 350 milligrams of vitamin C. Each can has the equivalent of about three grapefruit or four oranges. Citrus fruit also has the valuable vitamin P and certain other important vitamins and minerals.

Grapefruit juice can be purchased in No. 2 cans that sell, as a rule, two for 25 cents or about half the pre-war price. In fact they are about the only good food which is selling much below pre-war costs. These No. 2 cans can be purchased in cartons holding 24 cans. I earnestly advise every family to buy now, while the price is low, one or more of these cartons for winter use.

Remedies Proposed by Growers

The citrus growers of Texas, California, Arizona, and Florida are holding meetings everyday as to how to increase the price and avoid further losses. Some growers recommend destroying a portion of the crop; others are urging that all get together and agree on a fixed minimum price. At best these two suggestions are but stopgaps.

Today, however, all connected with the industry get their pay while the grower is obliged to take what is left. Pickers and haulers charge some twenty-five cents per box; the processing of the fruit costs about a dollar a box; the freight costs over a dollar a box; and of course the various handlers take their commissions. This leaves nothing for the honest grower.

Recommendations to Growers

(1) Spend more on newspaper advertising, telling consumers the real health value in citrus juices, and especially advise the purchase of cans in cartons rather than two cans at a time.

(2) Reduce the cost of production by eliminating coloring, polishing, over-fertilization, and such spraying as is done just to make the groves look handsome.

(3) Stop new plantings. Notwithstanding these very low prices, I find that new groves are constantly being set out in California, Arizona, Texas and Florida. The growers should immediately start active propaganda so that anyone who now sets out a new grove would be looked upon as an undesirable citizen.

Lessons To All
I traveled widely throughout the agricultural sections of our country. Farmers, ranchers, fruit growers and others in most sections have been making a lot of money during the last few years. These fortunate people have, however, been spending money carelessly, believing that good times will always continue. As a result, now that hard times have come, they have no financial reserves.

BELGIANS GIVEN NEW BEDSHEETS

Army Colonel Pays Back Villagers Who Helped War Camouflage

Hemroulle, Belgium, Feb. 21 (AP)—The people of Hemroulle got their bedsheets back today from the Americans.

Col. John Hanlon of Winchester, Mass., presented each of the 24 Hemroulle villagers with a pair of crisp new bedsheets in the name of his fellow townspeople.

It was a day of joy for this tiny snow-covered hamlet three miles north of Bastogne. The church bells pealed, bugles sounded and the children waved Belgian and American flags.

They called it "Winchester Day." This is the story behind the celebration:

On Christmas Eve in 1944 Col. Hanlon, then a major commanding the First Battalion of the 502nd Parachute Infantry, dropped out of the skies with his men onto the snow-covered fields surrounding Hemroulle.

It was during the critical battle of the bulge.

Hanlon went to the church and summoned the villagers by tolling the bell. He explained the Americans needed camouflage to hide them from the Germans.

The villagers went to their homes and returned with precious snow-white bedsheets. Hanlon promised the sheets would be returned.

Today Hanlon fulfilled his promise. He presented each of the villagers with a pair of crisp new bedsheets—the gift of the people of Winchester.

SOUTH FIGHTS TRUMAN CIVIL RIGHTS SETUP

also were represented.

MacArthur Steps In
Other political developments: A congressional flareup involving Gen. Douglas MacArthur apparently became a no-decision affair when the general himself stepped into it.

Some members of the House Foreign Affairs Committee wanted to invite MacArthur to Washington to testify on aid to China.

But other committee members cited "politics." They said an "ad hoc" visit would be used to start booming the general for the Republican presidential nomination.

It was developing into quite a fight until MacArthur spoke up from Tokyo. He said he's too busy to make the trip and added that he hopes the committee will drop the whole thing.

But MacArthur was still being backed for the GOP nomination elsewhere.

In Chicago, former Illinois Treasurer Warren Wright said he is going to open a National MacArthur-for-President headquarters in Washington.

Henry A. Wallace returned from a southern speaking trip with the opinion that no "major split" in the Democratic party is likely to result from the Civil Rights battle.

As for his own third party, he told reporters at Newark, N. J.:

"It looks better all the time, but it's still young."

Parents Save Son From Hungry Eagle At Carlsbad, N. M.

Carlsbad, N. M., Feb. 21 (AP)—A pair of pliers and a bed slat were the weapons used by a Carlsbad couple to save their four-year-old son from an eagle's clutches.

The mother, Mrs. C. J. Reinhart, told it this way:

The child was playing in the yard while she hung out a wash. Suddenly, the big bird appeared and dug its talons into her son's head.

For a minute she pulled in vain at the eagle's legs, then ran to the house.

Returning with a pair of pliers, she jerked the talons free, snatched up her son and rushed him to a doctor. Three talons had pierced the child's skin.

In the meantime, her husband had returned home. Reinhart beat the bird to death with a bed slat.

HIT-RUN KILLER HUNTED
Grand Haven (AP)—State Police and Muskegon county sheriff's officers are hunting a hit-run driver whose car killed 10-year-old Charles Perrin of Muskegon Heights and injured his young companion Friday as the boys rode bicycles on US-31 two miles north of here, Norman Wiseman, 13, of Muskegon, was taken to Municipal Hospital here with undetermined head and leg injuries.

"Sold the first day" said Jones.

and are begging for Government help. Every business should expect poor years and good years and it is only reasonable to expect all producers to lay aside a portion of their profits in good years to make up losses in poor years.

Therefore, I urge all growers of any product, who are still making money, to save their money. You who are growing wheat, raising livestock, and are prospering in other lines, should remember that hard times are coming to you the same as they have to the citrus people. I therefore urge you to now "save money for a rainy day" —or to speak more correctly to save now for days when it won't rain.

Tony Popish, Former Manistique Lifer, Is Accused Of Murder

Marquette, Feb. 21 (AP)—Tony Popish, 65, who gained notoriety in 1929 when he was sentenced to serve life in the Marquette prison in the so-called "Life for a Pint" case in which his conviction of federal liquor law violation was his fourth felony, was arraigned in municipal court here today on a warrant charging him with first degree murder.

His arrest followed investigation by state police of the death Feb. 8, of Frank Mehich, 61, a cripple, with whom Popish lived in a house in Trowbridge Park, near this city. Neighbors, who called at the house that afternoon to buy eggs from Popish, found Mehich's body in a bedroom and it appeared that Mehich, crippled for some time by arthritis, had committed suicide by shooting himself with a single-barrel shotgun. When state police investigated, however, their suspicions were aroused when the neighbors said Popish was outside the house feeding his chickens when they arrived and told them he did not know Mehich was dead, although he said he had been home since one o'clock that morning.

Popish was arrested and taken to the county jail last night. He denied the officers said, that he killed Mehich or had any knowledge of the cause of his death. Popish will be taken to Lansing next week for a polygraph (lie detector) test.

The "Life For a Pint" case in which Popish was involved developed in 1929 when he was a resident of Manistique. He had been convicted of three felonies prior to his arrest there for prohibition law violation, a felony under federal law, and was sentenced Jan. 19, 1929, to serve life in the Marquette prison under the four-felony law. The life sentence was commuted in 1930 to 7½ to 15 years and Popish was released on parole. He was returned to prison in 1935 for parole violation and released upon expiration of his sentence.

which is undermining this country."

These parties were the Czech National Socialists, with two cabinet members; the Slovak Democrats, with three, and the Catholic People's Party, with three.

Their ministers and the two from the Social Democratic Party walked out of a cabinet meeting yesterday when Vaclav Nosek, Communist interior minister, refused to backtrack from a police order. Seven ministers are Communists.

The order, issued Feb. 13, transferred eight non-Communist police district supervisors. Anti-Communists called this a move to put Communists in complete control of the security police.

The executive committee of the Social Democratic Party said last night it would stay in the government only if the coalition was continued.

Cleveland Officer Slain in Gun Duel; Burglar Wounded

Cleveland, Feb. 21 (AP)—A policeman was killed and a burglar wounded seriously last night in a gun duel on the second floor of a suburban Cuyahoga Heights duplex home.

Mrs. Elsa Buka, 61, and her maid, Mrs. Ethel Butts, huddled in the bathroom during the exchange of shots.

Patrolman Norman Reeker, 30, was killed. The prowler, identified by Detective Lt. Edward Clarke as Barney Davis, 25, was shot in the neck, jaw, leg and groin.

Reeker and patrolman Edward Myer responded to a phone call from Mrs. Metta Burg, who lives in the duplex opposite Mrs. Buka's. Mrs. Burg said she heard furniture being overturned and a man's voice demanding jewels.

As Reeker reached the top of the second-floor stairs, one shot felled him. He fired several times. Myer also fired.

MacPhail, Rickey Renew Feuding

New York, Feb. 21 (AP)—Larry MacPhail and Branch Rickey were embroiled today in a sizzling word-test concerning the admittance of negro players into Major league baseball.

MacPhail, former New York Yankees co-owner, said crisply that Rickey "was lying" if he claimed 15 big league clubs had opposed entry of negroes into the majors.

Rickey, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, replied that MacPhail's statement, released in Miami Beach, Fla., contained "distortions, untruths and inventions."

Both have mixed it before in baseball matters.

Wolverines Must Beat Gopher Five

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 21 (AP)—Michigan, out for its first Western Conference Basketball championship in a decade, tackles fourth-place Minnesota at Minneapolis tonight.

Sporting but a slender percentage lead over Wisconsin and Iowa, currently tied for second place, the Michigan Wolverines are in the position of having to win to keep an undisputed lead in the Big Nine race.

Michigan was able to bottle up Jim McIntyre, top conference scorer, and hold him to a mere 16 points, in tripping the Gophers here 43-41 early last month.

ARMED VS. ASSAULT
Miami, Fla., Feb. 21 (AP)—Armed and Assault fight it out in the Widener today. Ten horses are expected to go postward in the $50,000 mile and a quarter classic but every expert on the scene has picked either Armed or Assault to win.

"FIRST IN PEACE"

We are accustomed to think of Washington as a military leader. The man who coined the descriptive phrase which we quote here, realized, as his generation of Americans knew, that the first President became first in the hearts of his countrymen by reason of his stabilizing influence in the first years of peace and his success in winning acceptance for the political institutions which we are still proud to call American.

The Nation which Washington created will last longer if we remember this.
